Feel Their Measure of Excellence

Often exciting, more often dull and repetitious, frustrating, invigorating, aggravating, inspiring, annoying, rewarding, irritating, satisfying, bothersome and stimulating. Research. Odds are when a professor is not to be found, they can be — in a laboratory doing research.

Dr. Delbert Day, director of the Materials Research Center and Ceramics Engineering professor spends, "probably three fourths of the time" doing research. Dr. Day by far, isn't the only UMR professor conducting research; over 75% are involved. While most feel that research doesn't interfere with their classroom activities, students opinions vary.

"I've had several frustrating experiences trying to find professors but they haven't been available," Karla Wagner, sophomore, said.

While Linda Weber, senior, remarked, "I guess I've been lucky. I've never had problems when I needed to talk to a teacher."

And another student related this story, "I remember trying for several days to track down this particular teacher to clear up a concept I was confused on. I still hadn't been able to catch him before the test, and my grade sure showed it."

Despite some student's complaints, industry is always receptive to new ideas. From glass beads to help treat liver cancer, to studying the phenomena that occurs in atomic structure metals when they change from their original state to one with superior qualities, to adapting water jet use for drilling around corner. UMR's professors are always keeping current with changes in their respective fields.

Over 75% of UMR's professor's conduct research and are always keeping current with changes in their respective fields.

Dr. Stig Friberg, chemistry professor, researches systems of water, oil and amphiphilic substances. One important idea his team is working on is microemulsions that contain surfactants that break down hydrocarbons or water into particles that can be seen only with an electron microscope.

"In effect," according to Dr. Friberg, "the oil dissolves in water to form a clear solution which can be controlled to behave like either oil or water. When the means to make oil mix with water are perfected, petroleum companies will be able to recover a great deal of tertiary oil. Great revolutions will be made in the field of cosmetics, the chemical processing industries, the paint industry and even the food industry — to name just a few."

Dr. Friberg was UMR's first Missouri Curator Professor. This honor, created in 1968, is awarded to outstanding scholars with established reputations in their academic fields. Since Dr. Friberg's award in 1979, five other UMR professors have also been honored. They include: Dr. Delbert Day, ceramics; Dr. Walter Eversman, mechanical and aerospace; Dr. Laird Scheerer, physics; Dr. David Summers, mining; and Dr. Wei-Wen Yu, civil.

In his earlier work, Dr. Summers designed water jet machines to use in underground coal mining. He has been working on adapting these for use in drilling around corners, and for quieter and faster rock drilling. Most of his work deals with making improvements in current mining practices and solving problems caused by rapidly increasing shortages of fossil fuels.

With an idea from a colleague at the University of Missouri — Columbia, Dr. Day designed small glass beads that are used in the treatment of liver cancer. The spheres contain phosphorous and are not chemically corroded by the body.

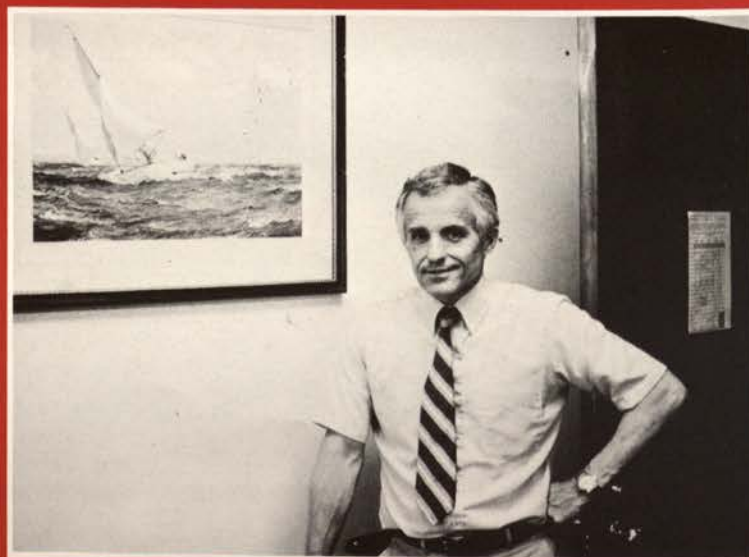

"These beads are made to a certain size," Dr. Day explained. "They are placed in a nuclear reactor to get irradiated. Then they are injected into the main blood stream that feeds the liver. Due to their size, they get trapped in the liver and remain there. They radiate the liver with a controlled dose, exactly where it's needed, and it doesn't hurt the healthy cells around the liver."

The properties of electrical discharge in gaseous media has been the center of Dr. Scheerer's research. The U.S. Navy is grateful, because they use a helium magnetometer that he designed. This device is capable of measuring extremely small variations in the earth's magnetic field. It is used to detect submarines, magnetic storms, and in overland oil explorations, as well as by NASA in deep space probes to measure Jupiter's and Saturn's magnetic fields.

"It's rewarding to know that work you did 20 years ago is still considered valuable and relevant," Dr. Scheerer said.

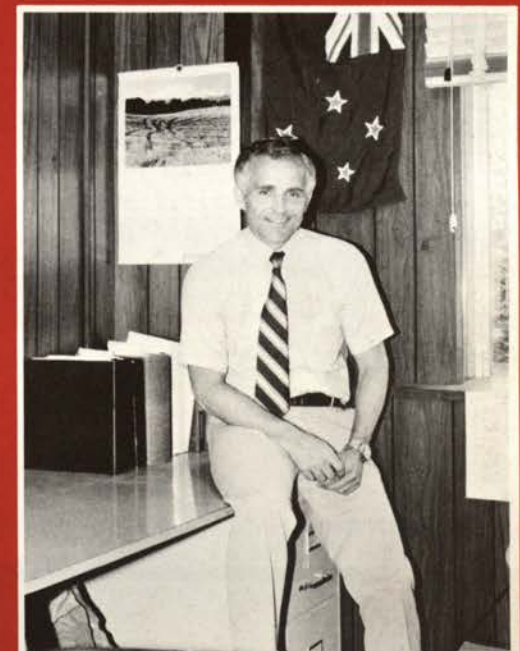

The ideas for research come from everywhere — reading, private study, colleagues, conversations with industry people and students.

"Research is a form of teaching," according to Dr. Day. "They're not totally unrelated. When I'm talking to a graduate student about his research, who's to say I'm not teaching? It's all in the eye of the beholder. Research is the icing on the cake to one's education. There's only so much you can learn in a classroom having someone talk to you."

But research would not take place if it did not have the money. Grants from many different industries, foundations, companies, as well as awards provide the necessary funds to continue. Money isn't just given away, however, and many proposals and long hours of marketing are necessary to obtain the needed funds.

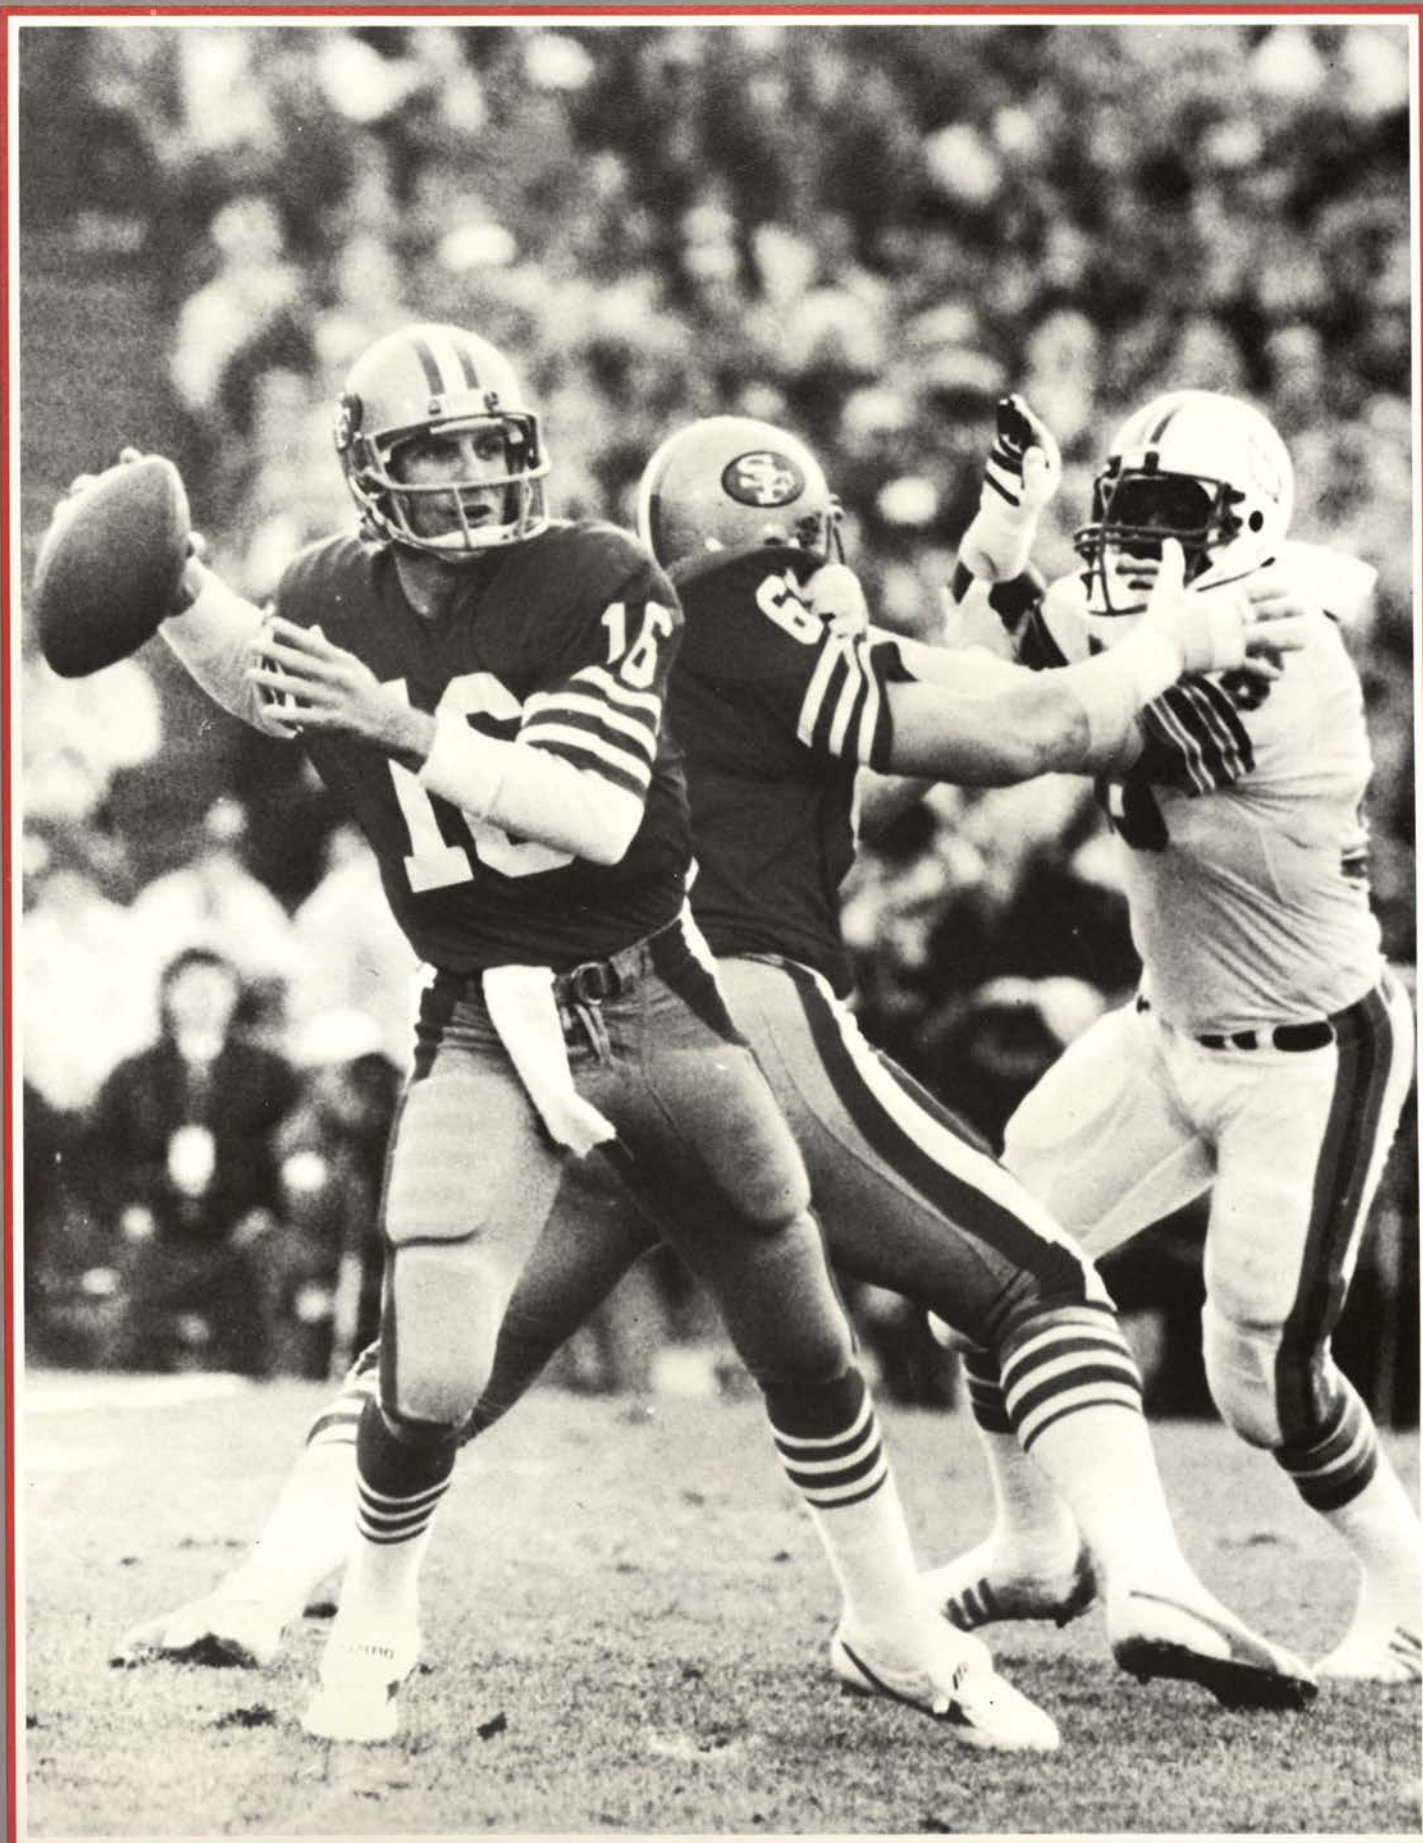

And yet, despite the seemingly apparent frustrations involved with research, professors continue to stay involved. Why? It's "the intellectual excitement of treading where no one has gone before," that keeps Dr. Scheerer interested in research.

Dr. Eversman, Researcher and Professor. He provides the best of both worlds.

Mary Lou Retton won the all-round gold medal and led the gymnastic team to a silver medal in the 1984 Summer Olympics. She also won bronze medals for the floor exercise and the uneven parallel bars and took a silver medal for the vault. The Soviet Union and other Communist countries boycotted the Summer Olympics.

The Winter Olympics in Yugoslavia saw the United States win four gold and four silver medals. Scott Hamilton won a gold in the men's figure skating and Steve Mahre won the gold medal in the Giant Slalom skiing event.

Carl Lewis won four gold medals in the 1984 Summer Olympics. One in the 100 meters, the 200 meter, the four 100 meter relay and the long jump.

The World Series in 1984 saw the Detroit Tigers beat the San Diego Padres four games to one. The Chicago Cubs came close to getting into the series but the Padres won. In the American League, the Kansas City Royals lost in the playoffs to the Tigers.

Chicago Bears' Walter Payton eyes New Orleans Saints' Whitney Paul as he carries the ball on his way to setting the record for rushing. He broke the record of 12,312 yards held by Jim Brown.

The United States Marines arrived in Beirut in 1982. Lebanon was torn by civil war and foreign invasion. In 1984 when the Marines left, more than 260 Marines were dead, Lebanon was still at war with most of its territory occupied by foreign troops and its government tottering. The price of President Reagan's commitment was too high and the Marines left Beirut.

Pope John Paul II was traveling Pope in 1984. In May he went to South Korea, Thailand, Papau New Guinea and the Solomon Islands; in June he went to Switzerland; in September to Canada and in October to Spain, Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico.

Mission specialist Bruce McCandless takes a walk in space in 1984. In the photo he is seen using the so-called manned maneuvering unit as he moved away from the Shuttle Challenger during the eight-day space mission.

After years of civil war, elections were held in El Salvador in 1984. Jose Napoleon Duarte, was elected president in what international observers called the most open and free election in that country in 50 years.

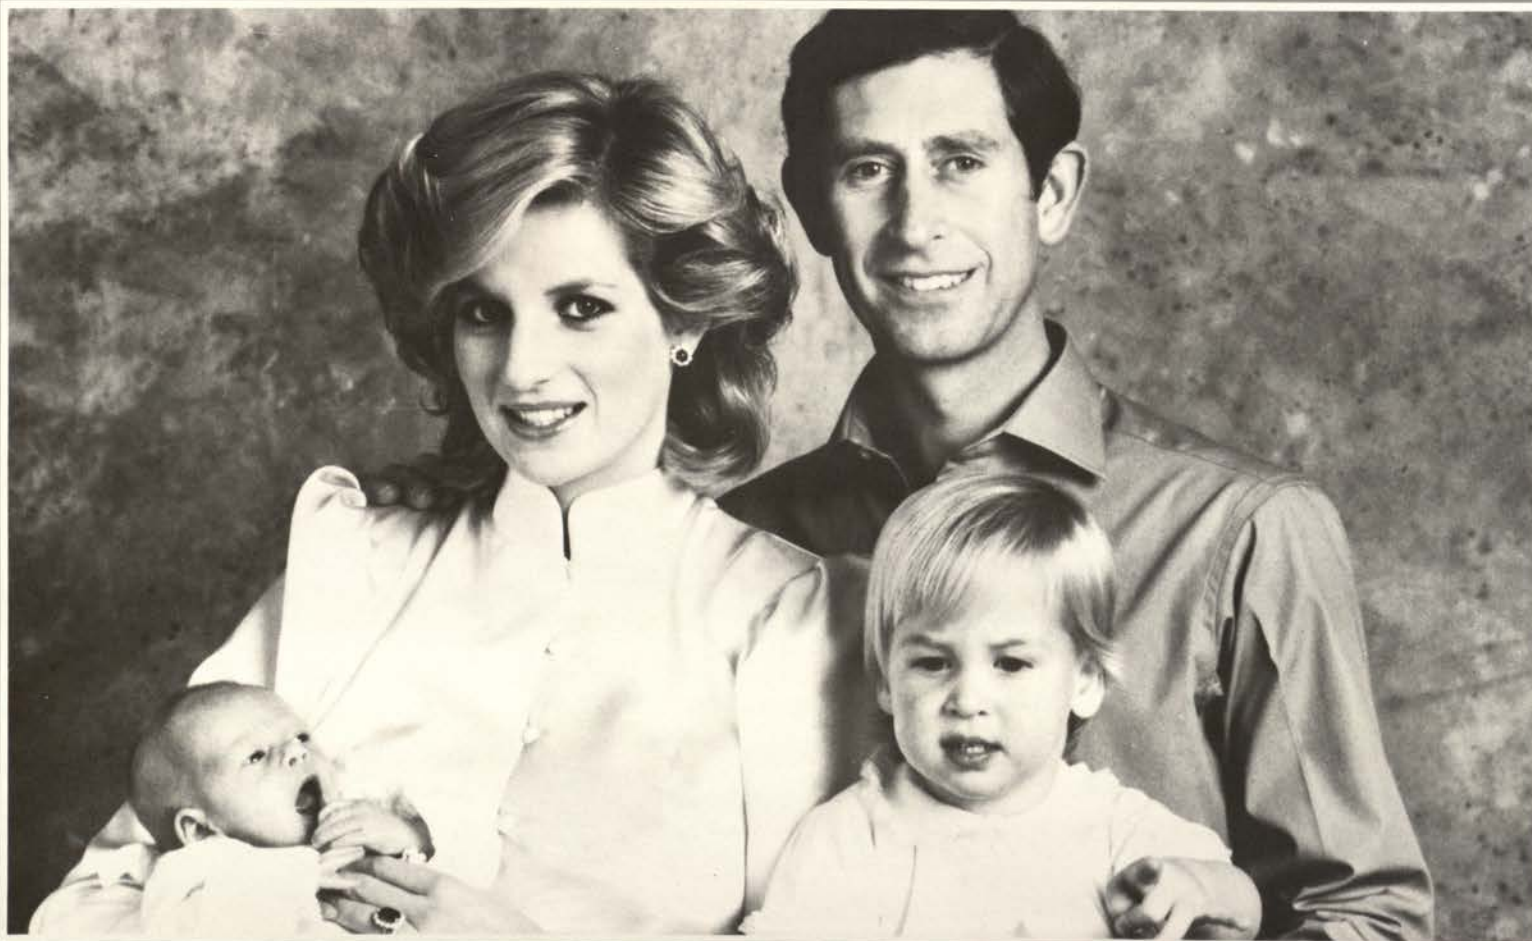

The Statue of Liberty celebrated her 96th birthday in 1984 and she began to show her age. The statue was worn from constant pummeling by wind, salt air and acid rain, and the iron ribbing supporting the copper covering was badly corroded. A two-year restoration began in July 1984. It included a new goldplated torch.

President Ronald Reagan and Vice President George Bush sought re-election in 1984. He vowed not to raise taxes and ran on his record of the previous four years.

President Reagan won re-election with biggest electoral vote in the nation's history. He won 49 states with 49 per cent of the total vote. The President and Mrs. Reagan celebrated the victory on election night, November 6, 1984.

Robert Duvall received an Oscar for his role as a washed-up country singer who overcomes alcoholism in the film "Tender Mercies." Shirley MacLaine won for best actress and Jack Nicholson won best supporting actor as an eccentric mother and pot-bellied ex-astronaut in "Terms of Endearment," which also won the best picture award.

Vanessa Williams was forced to surrender her title as Miss America at the request of pageant officials because she had posed nude for sexually explicit photos. She became the first of 57 Miss Americas forced to resign.

Suzette Charles, the first runner-up became the 58th Miss America.

Michael Jackson conducted his so-called Victory Tour to more than a dozen cities. The original ticket policy, which required fans to mail in 120 dollars postal money order for four tickets with no guarantee that they could receive tickets, was shelved after much criticism.

Dorm Life

With the passing of last year's freshman Live-in Rule, many people felt that UMR's newest arrivals had been doomed to a first year of gloom and boredom. This was definitely not the case. The Quad organized several activities that broke the tension and monotony for the students down for the trig review session. These activities ranged from outdoor volleyball to help sessions helping them to survive the big test. Thomas Jefferson organized "pool" parties and rented movies. This year the residential halls surpassed their past record of activities offered to the residents, led by enthusiastic committees, everything from off campus parties to educational seminars were presented. The executive councils of both TJ and the Quad first recognized the potential of their combined efforts with the success of last year's first formal dance, the Snow Ball.

This success proved to be the initial step to uniting the energies of the two halls. The new fall semester of 1984 saw the birth of one of the campus' newest organizations, the Inter-Residence Council.

IRC is a joint organization of representatives from TJ and the Quad. Though born through a need for greater representation of the residential halls in campus issues, it also has served as a common channel, aiding in coordinating the talents of the Quad and TJ.

IRC not only serves to represent the halls in local campus government, but nationally as well. The two halls are joint members in the National Association of College and University Residence Halls, an association which encourages the exchange of ideas and information among residential halls nation wide. Through this national organization, IRC is able to sponsor the National Residential Hall Honorary. The Honorary's purpose is to honor and recognize the residents who have exhibited outstanding leadership and service within the halls.

It is through IRC that the Quad and TJ have both worked on projects promoting programs which benefit both halls. Their largest project this year has been to wage a campaign against low enrollment and to promote resident retention in campus housing. The drive is actually a three component project: 1) The designing of new brochures which highlight campus housing. These and recruitment packets (containing coupons for a free night's stay in one of the halls and discounts on meals at the residential halls cafeterias) are being sent out to high school counselors.

2) The making of a video tape highlighting UMR's campus.

3) The organizing and staffing of campus tours designed to acquaint the prospective students and their parents with the campus.

With the formation of the Council, the residence halls are able to increase their level of campus involvement. Representing over one half of the on-campus student body, IRC carries the strength to make a substantial impact upon the campus government.

Active

Two groups of students at the University of Illinois wanted to establish an honorary civil engineering fraternity in the spring of 1922. One group was called Chi Epsilon and the other Chi Delta Chi. They combined to form Chi Epsilon. The Rolla chapter was installed in 1950. The objectives of Chi Epsilon include contributing to the improvement of the civil engineering profession, recognizing the fundamental characteristics of the successful civil engineer, and encouraging where ever possible any movement which will advance the best interest of engineering education.

The members are selected upon scholarship, character, practicality, and sociability. The pledges are required to make a plaque and give a five to eight minute presentation.

Jorge Ochoa

Honorary

Chi Epsilon is a very active honor society. During University Day, the members helped set up displays, guide guests through the civil engineering department, and answer questions. Recently they were involved in the phone-a-thon with other civil engineering students and faculty to raise money for better equipment for the civil engineering departments. Other activities include picnics, softball games, volleyball, and initiation banquets. This spring the Chi Epsilon District Conclave is being hosted by the Rolla chapter. Twelve schools participate in the conclave to prepare for the National Conclave to be held in 1986. Chi Epsilon members also work on service projects each semester to meet some of the needs of the Rolla community.

International Culture, and Much

Each of us, as individual as we are, are members and participants of certain groups. Whether it should be sport's teams, academic clubs, fraternities, sororities, or social organizations, we all participate to a group which revolves around our interests, likes, and dislikes.

"There's a feeling of security that comes along when one joins an organization; a sense of belonging," commented one student.

It is these same feelings that cause majority of the foreign students, who make up 10% of the student body, here at UMR to join the many international groups. Quite frequently these foreign students usually become members of their native nationality group.

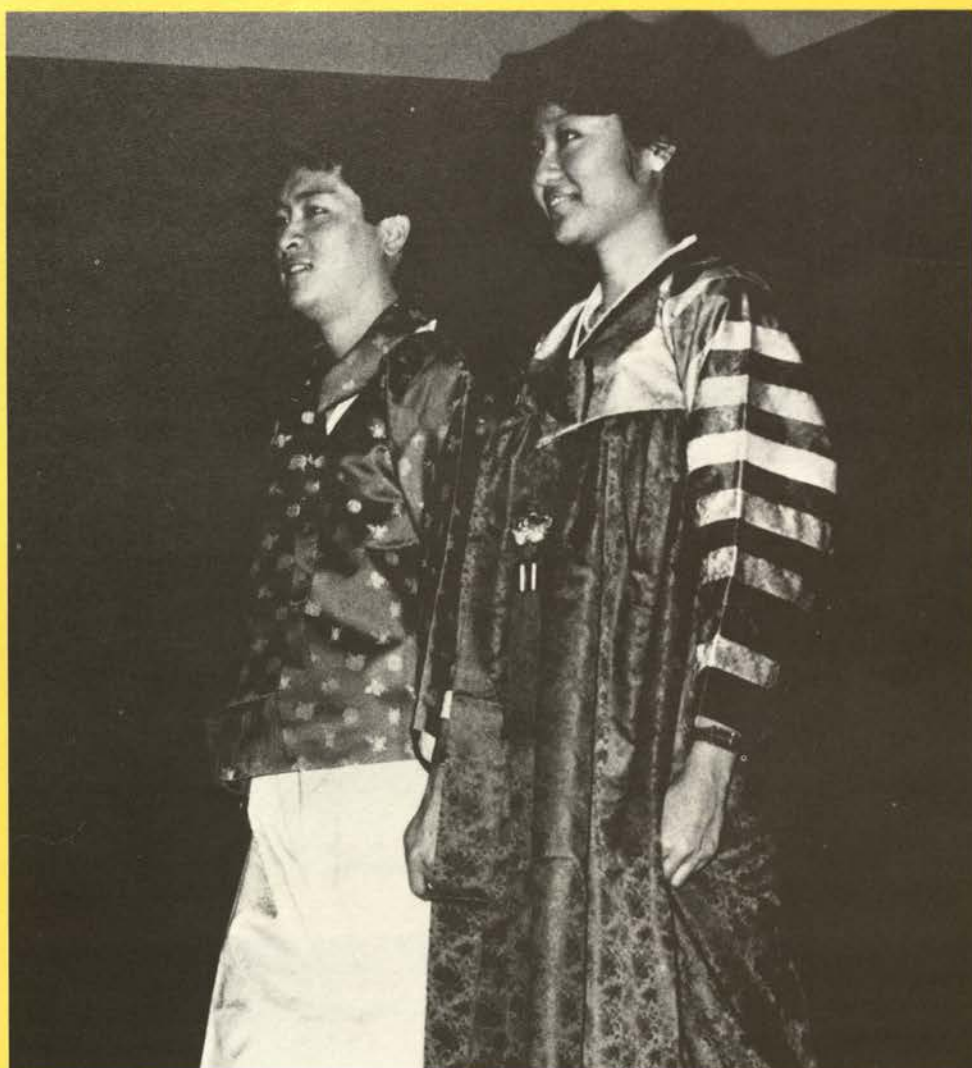

"It's a nice, familiar feeling when someone speaks the same language, eats the same food and follows the same customs that you do. The time I spend with the people from my own country makes me forget that I'm in Rolla." said Oscar Ballon, President of FELA (Federation of Latin American Students).

Besides making students feel more comfortable in their new surroundings,

Day: History More

these organizations also help students to plan social activities. For example every year all the international groups get together and participate in the popular "International Day." And last year as the Vietnamese students celebrated their New Year's day, over one hundred students from other colleges joined to share this popular holiday.

Little Sisters Help

There's a lot to be said for little sister organizations at UMR. According to Pike little sister president, Vicki Lapp, "It's one of the best ways for the girls on campus to meet the guys and get involved with fraternity activities. Little sisters provide a fantastic support system for the fraternities, and they allow for many lasting friendships."

There are 14 little sister groups on campus and based on the enormous enthusiasm shown each semester at rush parties, these little sister groups are definitely appreciated by the fraternities. Last semester, Sig Ep dazzled and taunted little sister rushees with their rendition of the "Chippendale dancers." Enthusiasm ran high as rushees were treated to an exclusive Chippendale performance and were given the opportunity to test their luck at the casino tables. Needless to say, Sig Ep made a lasting impression, and won over a large portion of the rushees.

Pledging is the first step of a little sister's affiliation with a fraternity. "It's a lot of fun," stated TKE little sister Judy Slaten, "I especially enjoyed paddle signing because it was a good way to break the ice and get to know the guys. Also, getting big brothers was another fun part because our big brothers give us a very special link with the house." Recently, the TKE little sisters woke up the TKE's in the early hours of the morning to treat them to a "Screwdriver and Donut" breakfast. Breakfasts such as these, popcorn parties and socials are popular methods for guys and their little sister groups to have fun and show their support for each other.

Fund raisers are a major activity in little sister organizations, because they provide funds for perpetuating the organization, and for house gifts for the fraternities. The Little Sigmas of Sigma Chi raised money for their rush activities by sponsoring a slave auction. The girls volunteered to perform household duties, small errands and the like for Sigma Chi's who purchased their services. Similarly TKE little sisters initiated a "Pie in the Face" sale to raise money for a house present. For a certain price, a TKE could persuade one of the little sisters to throw a pie in the face of his fraternity brothers. These fund raisers go over quite well in terms of raising money, and also in terms of fun and friendships.

Blue Key

National Honor Fraternity

One of the most widely recognized and highly sought organizations on campus is the prestigious Blue Key Fraternity. Blue Key is defined as a "recognition" society and as such it consists of some of the most hard working and involved students on campus.

Criteria for eligibility in Blue Key is high, in that the potential candidate must have a GPA of 2.75, 60 credit hours and 40 Blue Key points. The Blue Key Points are determined by the candidate's involvement and leadership in campus activities. The more organizations and offices the candidate has to his credit, the more Blue Key Points the candidate can accumulate. However, meeting these three requirements does not assure an automatic entry into the organization, rather Blue Key organizes a smoker in which members select a specified number of new members from the eligible candidates. Blue Key consists of a max of 40 members and this number is fixed, so that as members graduate, new members need to be located to fill up the openings.

Membership in Blue Key, is an honor in itself, however Blue Key does many services, for the university, that warrant further recognition. One of the services Blue Key provides to students, is the resume program for graduating seniors. In this program, Blue Key corresponds with over 600 companies and when these companies require graduates to fill their job openings, Blue Key forwards them the resume of graduate seniors meeting the company's specification. Any graduating senior is more than welcome to partake of this service for the cost is zero and the opportunity excellent.

Blue Key's largest contribution to the campus is the Blue Key Student Directory, which is compiled from the school records each fall. This directory is distributed campus wide and is an invaluable booklet to most students and faculty.

In addition Blue Key sponsors a leadership seminar for undergraduates. Organizations on campus are invited to send one or two of their members to participate and learn from the seminar. The seminar acquaints the participants with methods of leadership by the use of role playing techniques and guest speakers.

Finally Blue Key recognizes students who have shown outstanding service and dedication in any one of the campus's organizations. Each month Blue Key picks one individual who has shown to his organization and honors him as the Blue Key man of the month. An article and picture of the chosen individual is published in the Missouri Miner thereby notifying the campus of the individual's accomplishment. The services the Blue Key provides are many and varied and it is for the reason that Blue Key is looked upon as one of the most active organizations on campus.

A New Home for B.S.U.

With two major construction projects under way this year, students may not have noticed a smaller project going up across from the Quad between 10 and 11 streets. UMR's Baptist Student Union (BSU) is anxiously watching their new home take shape from the ground up.

"Our present building is too small," stated Kevin Thornsberry, BSU president, "I'll give you an example. When I came here in the fall of 81 there were 25 people attending our weekly Tuesday night meetings. We've since grown to 70-80 people at a meeting."

Roughly twice the size of the current building, work should be completed in September 1985. The new building will be able to feed 125-150, seat 175-200, provide a large lounge area, offices, music-rehearsal room, study rooms and a recreation room. Not a university funded project, the Missouri Baptist convention is paying for the building with a five county area providing the funds for furnishing.

As for the old building? "This building is standing on the site of the fine arts building. It will be demolished later, but it's on the university's time schedule," commented 12 year BSU director, Rev. Jesse Parrott.

BSU has been at their current location for five years, but a part of UMR for over 45 years. "BSU is a link between students and churches," Rev. Parrott said. "We are not trying to be a church, but a channel through which students can fulfill their spiritual needs." The needs are fulfilled by revivals, fellowship, choirs, Bible studies, and weekly meetings.

The home of two choirs, a "regular" choir and the Voices of Inspiration, BSU is especially proud of its newest addition. The Voices of Inspiration have only been together for three years, but they are already widely known and have performed throughout the state and local areas. This year they are looking forward to performing at the National BSU revival in Georgia.

"They keep very busy," Rev. Parrott commented. "They sing as often as they get a chance to. And they receive many offers."

"It's a choir for black students," Kevin explained. "They come from St. Louis and Kansas City usually and are from black neighborhoods. This is somewhat of a culture shock — the pressure can be greater on them because they're alone, out of their society. The music they're accustomed to is different from the regular BSU choir. They're used to a different type of worship and you miss the things you're used to."

Another type of culture shock BSU is trying to help ease is the English language barrier of foreigners. "On Monday night we have seven students from mainland China who come for Bible study," Rev. Parrott said. "This helps in their English classes for the wives of students and even some students too. Often students bring their wives and then they go off to class, just leaving their wife to stay home. We start at the very beginning and teach conversational English."

Summer missions are yet another major aspect of BSU. Beginning in December, BSU members can compete for summer jobs doing missionary work. They can throughout the United States and this year member Jeramiah Golston will mission in Malaysia. This is possible through a large Missouri fund that each BSU chapter can contribute to. Our BSU's goal is to raise and send $3,000. They are earning their money through working at revivals, donations made to the BSU choir for singing, and through a work day for local church members.

BSU members come in all styles, shapes and colors according to Kevin. "BSU is a place for Christians, not only Baptists. We've had Catholics, Methodists and even an atheist who came to meetings regularly. You have to do nothing to be a BSU member — no fees or signing a card or anything. If you come and enjoy something that makes you a member. Whoever you are you can come and people here will find worth in you. That's what makes us unique."

Alpha Phi Omega

One of the most active and recognized service organizations on campus is the Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity. APO, as it is more commonly known, is dedicated to the principles of service, friendship and leadership. It is composed of about 50-60 individuals, each elected and sent by a fraternity or sorority or independently by the chapter. Membership in APO is a prized honor, for APO has an excellent reputation for service on the UMR campus.

APO's most popular service is the APO Bookstore organized at the beginning of each semester. This program is a service run by the students for the students. It is a fantastic method in which students set their own price and how much they wish to sell their books for. The bookstore provides bargains for those seeking to buy books, and those selling the book also end up with a profit. In fact the success of the APO bookstore has been so promontory that it is considered to be a major competition by the two bookstores on campus.

In addition APO organizes numerous fund raisers and projects for charity. In the fall semester, APO sponsored Super Dance '84' to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. Super Dance '84' was an hour dance marathon in which students volunteer to get sponsors to pledge money for each hour they danced. The event was a tremendous success, for the dancers made $3800 for Muscular Dystrophy and had fun in the process. Spring semester brought with it another APO fund raiser in which members sold pretzels at the St. Pat's extravaganza to earn money for another worthy charity.

APO's ready and willing participation in other campus activities such as Blood Drives, Merit Badge Day, and University Day are the reason why APO has an excellent service reputation on campus.

Ground Breaking Signals New Beginning for Eng. Mgt.

The Engineering Management degree has taken major strides both on the Rolla campus and in industry. The degree has come to be viewed as an ideal way to combine technical know-how with competent management skills. The popularity of Engineering Management has grown to such an extent that it is the sixth largest degree chosen by students at UMR.

ASEM is the professional society associated with Engineering Management, and membership in this organization has grown to a tremendous 200 members. ASEM is composed of a wide variety of committees ranging from company contacts, social, fund raising, newsletter, alumni and chapter development.

The company contacts committee is the most recent addition to the organization, and it has done much in its short existence. It recently developed a slide presentation to help promote the Engineering Management degree to companies unaware of its existence. The slide presentation describes Engineering Management, how it fits within a company, and what types of jobs Engineering Management students are best suited for. During Industry Day, the slide presentation was shown to company representatives and the overall response was excellent. The company representatives were impressed by both the slide show and the Engineering Management program.

ASEM officiated the ground breaking ceremony for the new Engineering Management building. The ceremony was attended by Governor Kit Bond and several state representatives and senators, as well as UMR faculty and administration. The occasion marked an important turning point for the Engineering Management degree on the UMR campus. The new management building is to be built adjacent to the Humanities and Math-Computer Science buildings. The expected completion date is 1987.

ASEM members K. Miller, L. Helleny, L. B. Norton, and S. Betz remove the first shovelful to commemorate the site of the new Eng. Mgt. Building.

One Night in "Vegas"

Theta Tau Omega originally began as a social fraternity. Through the years it has evolved into a Professional Engineering fraternity, and it has provided much in terms of service and leadership to the university, as well as to the Rolla community.

It is widely recognized in the community for its avid support of charities, and often local businesses co-sponsor Theta Tau's charity raising projects. During Parent's Day, Theta Tau in conjunction with Sunny Wall Flowers provided a "Mum for Moms" delivery service. Also Theta Tau Pizza Night was a cooperative effort between Pizza Inn and Theta Tau, where Theta Tau members delivered pizza to various sororities and fraternities. All proceeds from both these projects were donated to charity.

Theta Tau is probably best known for its "Wednesday before St. Pats" festivity, Casino Night. Casino Night is Rolla's one night tribute to Las Vegas, and it represents a great time for everyone. Those attending pay a cover charge and play for prizes, which have been donated by local businesses. This year, Theta Tau raised $3500, and it was contributed to the Rolla Nutrition Site.

On campus, Theta Tau organizes and distributes a calendar that has pertinent information and meeting dates of all the organizations on campus. Theta Tau also presents a $100 scholarship every fall to selected freshman students for the "Freshman of the Year" scholarship.

With all these projects underway, this fifty-five member organization still manages to have some modicum of fun at various socials and teas. As Bob Zdvorak stated, "our philosophy is to mix work with fun, while contributing to charity."

Another Winning Season

Perhaps one of the most successful yet unpublicized clubs on our campus is the UMR Taekwondo Club. Taekwondo is a Korean Martial Arts/Sports. It is practiced by 20 million people worldwide. It is also going to be the 1988 Olympic demonstration sport. The 1984-85 school year witnessed the growth of this club as a result of the dedication and quality instruction of second degree black belt instructor Steve Shinn and first degree black belt Jimmy Tansil. With three workouts a week regularly attended by 40 or more members, the club offers both mental and physical discipline through its strenuous workouts.

In addition to the clubs regular workouts, a good number of the members often compete in National Tournaments throughout the midwest. Impressive showings became the norm as each tournament brought home more trophies. At the Tulsa, Oklahoma tournament, seven trophies were brought home, with Steve Shinn winning the light-middleweight black belt division. In Kansas City, five members brought home trophies, with white belt competitor John Adam winning both a first place trophy for forms and a third place trophy for one-step sparring.

Big Future for Panhellenic

The UMR campus was recently besieged by a number of girls wearing maroon jackets with "Panhellenic" written across it. Speculation had been high on "What Panhel was," could it be new girls softball team ... a new all girls rock and roll band? The question was on everyone's mind until panhel began making its presence known on campus, and cleared some of the confusion on its identity.

Panhellenic is the governing body between the sororities, the so called female counterpart of IFC. Panhellenic was organized to regulate and run sorority rush. It was formed six years ago and it consists of a "baby" and junior representative from each of the three sororities, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha. Until a year ago, panhel, had been part of IFC and only had a limited amount of representation in this organization. Last year, panhel, broke away from IFC and established itself as a new and independent entity. The break was supported by IFC and IFC did much to help the sororities form their own governing body. The two still continue to meet and organize Greek activities, however, now, panhellenic and IFC meet as equals in the newly formed Greek Council.

Panel has done much in the last year to establish itself as a necessary and contributing part of Greek life. Last fall, panhel helped to reorganize and set up the Greek Sing. In addition panhel was responsible for the Mini Olympics and Queen's Band during Greek Week. Panhel organized a major fund raiser last fall that did much to acquaint the community with the panhel organization. The fund raiser was an "Aerob-a-thon" in which participant took pledge for the number of hours they lasted doing aerobics. The event was very successful in that over a $1000 was raised for the Love Organization.

Perhaps the most unique and successful project panhel organized was its Orange Crush Party. The "Crush" party was an exciting event in which each sorority sister allowed to specify three males who she "had a crush on," and wanted invited to the party. The first choice of each girl was invited, and those invitees were sent a can of Sunkist Orange Crush along with a formal invitation explaining the dance. The evening was an absolute success and it brought panhel the special recognition it had worked hard for.

As an infant organization, panhel has made major strides in establishing itself at UMR. The members have put a lot of work and effort into the organization, and they look forward to the day when panhel becomes as big as IFC.

Nothing captures the weekly events in Rolla quite like the Missouri Miner. The distribution of this publication is a much awaited event by both students and faculty, for the newspaper provides a comprehensive coverage of campus news. The combination of world events, college activities, sports, classified ads, and employment opportunities in the Miner provides something for almost everyone.

The Miner has added a number of new and interesting sections within the last year. Berke Breathed's satirical strip, Bloom County, has become the Miner's most popular feature. In addition to this comic strip, the newspaper added several other features and underwent some cosmetic changes which made last year's Miner a more superior and well-received newspaper. A world news summary, the reappearance of editorials, a new masthead were a few of the more noticeable changes. The Miner staff also moved into larger offices and changed its distribution date from Thursday to Wednesday.

It was an overcast day with a 60% chance of rain. But, that's not near enough reason to call off the 7th annual Septemberfest. It takes more than a few clouds and a little rain to turn away students who love to party with the best of the partiers, the St. Pat's Board.

The beer trucks were lined up, 5 of them bumper to bumper ready to let the party begin. The band was set up and ready to dance the day away.

It was time to let the festivities begin and in they rolled, students from St. Louis, Mizzou, Springfield and the most from our very own UMR. They all had two things in common, a SEPTEMBERFEST '84 button and a desire to get crazy and have a good time at the biggest party of the semester.

The beer began to flow, people began dancing, the beer still flowed, shamrocks were becoming the "in thing" to wear on your cheek and the beer still flowed. Then the rain came, but the beer still flowed despite the people who decided it was time to call it a day. The board maintained their posts until the last of the partiers had headed home. Now it was time to start looking toward the best ever ST. PAT'S '85!

St. Pat's 1985

St. Pat's, the words mean many things to UMR students. Some look at it as a time to get away and go home for a few days, others look at it as a mini-spring break, but to most it means PARTY! When the board reps take up residence at the hockey puck to sell green in October, students begin looking forward to St. Pat's. By the time March 17 arrives they're psyched to have a good time.

On Monday the snakes invade campus and the freshmen protect it with their shillelaghs. Monday thru Wednesday all sorts of crazy things appear on campus. The follies, a competition between organizations for valuable St. Pat's points, range from beard contests to the most green person.

St. Pat's 1985 officially begins with the arrival of St. Pat (Kevin Slattery) and his court at the train depot. Chancellor, Joe Marchello and Mayor, Floyd Ferrell were on hand to welcome them.

Extravaganza and Games

The weekend begins with the extravaganza on Thursday, when the students board buses driven by board reps and head for Lion's club. They all have their cup in hand as they arrive at the gate. Then it's time to head for one of the many beer trucks, listen to the band and just kick back and enjoy the day.

On Friday the games begin with the quarter barrel chug. The games such as the bat race, 7 oz. chug and the endurance chug all have one thing in common, BEER! The cudgels are all displayed in the background for viewing and judging during the games. As the day comes to a close, the cudgels are carried by one man, urged on by the crowd. After the festivities everyone heads home to rest up before the Knighting, Coronation, Dance and the many parties that lie ahead.

The World According to G. Gordon Liddy

George Gordon Liddy is the most popular speaker on the college campus circuit, according to the National Association for Campus Activities. His main objective on his lecture tour is to give his view of how the world really works. Liddy says, "By doing what I do, I hope to educate you and start you thinking in a way that will ultimately benefit the nation. I also enjoy what I'm doing. I get a big kick out of it. Believe me, if you could ever find yourself in a position where you earn a good living doing something you really like to do, you can count yourself fortunate. And I do. And of course I can only do it in a Western Democracy. In the Soviet Union I couldn't do what I'm doing now. I would last about 30 seconds. I'd be shot."

Liddy discussed the problem he feels is the disillusionment of the American people. He says, "I was in 9 prisons in the country. Not one was ever referred to as a prison. Some were called penitentiaries, but I never found anyone there that was penitent, certainly not I. Others were called correctional institutions. I was in there longer than this country was in WWII, I never saw them correct a soul. There were never any prisoners in the non-prisons. We were all referred to as inmates as if this was some kind of fat farm where we all came to lose a little weight. There were never any guards. They were 11 correctional officers."

In Liddy's opinion the reason we think this way is because as a people we have been fortunate enough to be setting on a mountain of natural resources for 2 centuries, protected by thousands of miles of water on either coast. We confuse the world as it is with the world as we wish it were. We live in a bad neighborhood constantly. If a little old lady with a fat pocketbook wants to get from point A to point B, the least that can happen is that she will be relieved of that pocketbook. On the other hand, take a young man that is an offensive tackle for the super bowl contending team. He's six foot seven inches tall. He weighs 275 pounds in mid-season when he is light. He's got a fat wallet. In his right hand he's got a baseball bat and in the other an M-16. He will get from point A to point B. Liddy said that today the U.S.A. is perceived less and less as an offensive tackle and more and more as a little old lady.

Reason: The life of illusion we lead as a a people is really apparent to the citizens of the rest of the world and it does not inspire confidence.

Matt Johnson

"The United States is being perceived less like an offensive tackle and more and more as a little old lady."

John Anderson

Champion of the Independents

John Anderson has been dubbed as the perennial loner, the long shot candidate for the presidency in 1980, the self-proclaimed champion of the independents whose thinly veiled threat to run for the presidency in '88 is met with fear by some and awe by others, and sometimes treated lightly.

Commenting on the Reagan Administration just prior to the '84 election, Anderson said, "The Reagan administration put the nation through the worst recession since the depression era and the drop in inflation was the result of his having put us through the wringer for it.

While commenting on the contradiction of his apparent disillusionment with the policies of both parties and his endorsement of the Mondale-Ferraro ticket, Anderson said that while hoping for a third party bid, for the presidency in 1984, he is not about to "skulk in his tent in this election year." Also in his lecture, Anderson dwelt at length on his all too well known visions of a successful third party. He stated that Van Buren's outline on what political parties should stand for says a party should serve as more than the some of its parts, and represents an overarching central public philosophy. He asked if anyone can seriously argue that parties of today with all their infighting on issues measure by Van Buren's criterion.

"The founding fathers didn't say anything about political parties, and Moses didn't have an eleventh commandment on the mount that there

"Today the United States has become a capital importing nation. 'Give me your tired and your poor' has been replaced by the new cry, 'Give me your pounds, your yen, and your smuggled pesos.' " should only be two parties the Republicans and the Democrats.", said Anderson.

As a new party, his National Unity party will be willing to take the calculated risk of exposing themselves as a party that does not believe in the "force of deterrence" by acquiring more and more armaments, but rather will be a party that believes in the rule of the law as its cornerstone, and not in the caveman's club wielding threat of force.

A Record 56 Companies Turn Out for UMR's

Industry Day

Company representatives are available to answer any questions the students might have.

Crowds of students wander from booth to booth gathering literature and observing different displays.

On Tuesday, September 25, students gathered in the Gale Bullman Multi-Purpose building to take part in UMR's Missouri Industry Day. Each fall companies from across Missouri send representatives to UMR to participate in the industry display. Fifty-six companies assembled a booth or table which displayed pamphlets and information about job opportunities they had to offer. The overall purpose of the occasion is to stimulate students interest in employment in Missouri. It gives the student a chance to see the broad variety of employment opportunities there are in Missouri from bottling the brew with Anheuser Busch to trekking the unbeaten paths through Missouri wilds with the Forest Service.

Parent's Day

Galen Oellig

During parents day, all academic departments, campus buildings, fraternities, sororities and residence halls were open to guests. So this way you could show Mom and Dad where you sleep (class rooms), where you live (library) and where you pay rent.

Parents day was a big success for most of the parents visiting Rolla whether it was the first time or one of many. In the morning the campus hosted a parent's association roundtable in the Mark Twain room of the University Center East. After this, campus tours were available leaving from the University Center. During the same time there were music programs at the University Center East and at the library. KUMR hosted an art exhibit on the second floor of the library. To end the campus sponsored events was a parent's association buffet and awards presentation at the Gale Bullman multi-purpose building.

Most fraternities and sororities held luncheon banquets of some kind for their visiting parents. Some had awards ceremonies and dances in the evening. The festivities were highlighted by the football game against Evangel College.

The Chinese Magic Revue of Taiwan

The acrobatic team of the CHINESE MAGIC REVUE OF TAIWAN begins training at an early age. Training for the team is a family affair. Children see their parents doing acrobatics of all kinds from day one.

Formal lessons and training begin at the age of four or five. The 3 schools for the arts in Taipei deal with Dance, Chinese Opera, and Acrobatics. The children practice about four hours a day and by the time they turn fifteen their art has become second nature.

The revue consists of a team of 15 artists led by Mr. Hai Ken Tsai along with his brothers Hai Ken Hsi and Hai Ken Four. These three men lead and directed the CHINESE MAGIC REVUE OF TAIWAN through a thrilling performance in front of an audience at UMR's Gale Bullman Multipurpose building on November 14th.

Among some of the extraordinary feats performed by the revue was the sword swallower who managed to lunge 3 swords down his throat at one time and finished by swallowing a glowing tube of light.

To gain crowd participation a unicyclist caught lemons thrown by the audience by spearing them with a knife placed in his mouth. Also among the extraordinary feats was the acrobat who balanced atop a tower of chairs on a base of four champagne bottles, he arranged the top chair in every position imaginable and still did a handstand atop it. And last but definitely not least was the elegant Chinese magic that left the audience in awe.

We've all heard the comment, "Engineers are dull, boring and have no creativity." There are many talented students on campus that would like to tell you different. In the following pages we wish to show you a little of that talent.

The UMR theatre directed by Margie Boston presents a play each semester. In the fall semester they presented FOOLS a comic fable by Neil Simon. The cast and crew consisted of about 30 UMR students. SYNOPSIS: "Leon Tolchinsky is ecstatic. He's landed a terrific job as a schoolteacher in the idyllic Russian hamlet of Kulyenchikov. But when he arrives he finds people sweeping dust from the stoops back into their houses, and people who think if you milk a cow upside down you get more cream. Kulyenchikov, it seems, has been cursed with chronic stupidity for 200 years, and the desperate townspeople have hired Leon hoping he can break the curse.

But they didn't tell him if he stays more than 24 hours, and fails to break the curse, he also becomes stupid. Why doesn't Leon leave, you say? Because he has fallen in love with the beautiful daughter of the town doctor. She's so stupid she has only recently learned how to sit down. Of course, Leon breaks the curse and gets the girl," ... from Samuel Franch Catalog P. 76.

The cast gathers around to listen to Tolchinsky read a letter. Members of the cast were David Esker (Mishkin), Ruth Barefield (Sophia sky, Kenneth Shelton (Dr. Zubritsky, Mark Drewes (Snetsky), and Scott Thompson (magistrate).

In the spring semester the UMR theatre presented Little Murders by Jules Feiffer. Jules Feiffer channeled his intense concern about violence in the 1960's into this play, Little Murders. The play is a dark comedy in two acts, set in the Newquist family's apartment in New York City. In the five scenes, the plot progressively and relentlessly illustrates the toll the violence of the time takes on the Newquist family members and friends until they, too, contribute to the street violence and vigilantism around them in a macabre ending. While there are many comedic scenes very effectively depicting some of the attitudes and behaviour of the 1960's, there is a serious underlying theme: violence begets violence. The cast consisted of Jenny Loudenback (Marjorie New-

Engineering

On June 20, 1984 (the summer solstice), dedication ceremonies were held for a new addition to campus, University of Missouri — Rolla Stonehenge, a half-scale partial reconstruction of the ancient megalith Stonehenge.

The Monument, located at 14 Street and Bishop Avenue is a simulation of the world's 'oldest' computer. Stonehenge was duplicated with the aid of newly developed waterjet technology available on campus. The rock (160 tons of granite) was carved to the correct dimensions by using two waterjets cutting at a pressure of 16,000 pounds per square inch.

The original Stonehenge, which is located on Salisbury Plain 75 miles southwest of London, was built in three stages beginning about 2800 BC and ending about 1100 BC.

The ancient monument is considered to be one of the world's most outstanding engineering projects. It can be used to predict seasonal changes, eclipses and moon phases.

A proclamation, recognizing UMR Stonehenge as one of the Ten 1984 Outstanding Engineering Achievements by the National Society of Professional Engineers, was issued by Governor John Ashcroft.

... Strive for the

Goals of Athletic Competition

Athletics played a prominent role in the UMR picture throughout the 1984-85 seasons. The Miners trained, practiced and competed, striving to perform at their best. The contests came and went, seasons were played out and the chain of competition continued.

Varsity sports weren't the only ones keeping students busy. A wide assortment of intramural sporting events kept students in shape physically and mentally as they helped release frustrations.

So whether the athletes were on a field, a court, or in the water, they worked with their teammates at being winners whether the game was won or lost.

The clap of approval and shouts of encouragement are often heard coming from the Gale Bullman Multipurpose Building. The Holsum Bakery, located across the street from the multipurpose building, was purchased this year by UMR. Plans for it to be transformed into a recreational center are under way.

Newcomers Promote High Expectations

Making up ground on an uphill stretch, Julie Board passes a Northeast runner on her way to a 5th place finish in the Miner Invitational. Julie paced the Miners in most of the meets during her freshman season.

Youth and inexperience characterized the Lady Miner cross country team in 1984 but coach Sarah Preston could not have been more pleased. Preston, who has coached the team since its beginning season in 1981, indicated that a bevy of fine freshman runners could become the building block for future success in the women's cross country program.

Leading the way for the Lady Miners were freshmen Julie Board and Amy Volmert. Julie was easily the most consistent runner during the year as she finished first for the team in all but one race. Among the highlights of her season were three sub-twenty minute clockings over the 5 kilometer course. Volmert was a mainstay in the number two position for most of the year and capped off her season with a stellar performance at the conference meet in Warrensburg. Amy finished tenth in that race and captured the final berth on the all-MIAA team.

A total of seven runners participated on the squad and only 2 will be lost to graduation. Coach Preston hopes to add 5 new runners next year in order to gain the team depth necessary to challenge the top schools in the rugged MIAA conference. Preston also noted that it was a pleasure to coach this year's team because of their dedication "not only to running but to school as well."

The Men — The Machine

The Miner Men's Cross Country team experienced its most successful season in a number of years during the 1984 season. The Miners saw an aggressive start culminate into a winning record at year's end. The Miner's winning ways were evident on the UMR golf course at the running of the 5th annual Miner Invitational where the Miners were squeaked by Missouri Baptist College with the score of 40 to 44. The climax of the season occurred on a rainy, cold, and dreary day in Kirksville. The Miners, inspired by the slogan "the men — the machine," finished a very solid fourth in stiff MIAA conference competition.

The young cross country team will only lose three squadmen to graduation. Jim Bullard, a four year letterman and All Conference runner, did not enjoy his most consistent season, however he placed extremely high at both the Miner Invitational (3rd) and the Conference Championships (13th). Dan Lichtenwalner, a four year squadman, finished strong in all races in 1984. Dan's consistency was a mainstay of the team during his four years of inter-collegiate competition. Keith Smith, another four year squadman, set the pace for UMR by finishing first for the team in most of the races. The high point of Keith's season was a third place finish at the Miner Invitational.

The Miners finished the 1984 season with a momentum that promises to carry through with even more exciting things in 1985.

Playing a difficult schedule, the UMR women's soccer team ended their 1984 season with a 9-8-0 record. "The women did real well with the competition they had to play. I was very satisfied with the season which had a few nice surprises." Coach McNally remarked. "We started out like gangbusters. They played well with good competition." The women had an excellent start with a 5-1 record in their first six games.

The women split with Wisconsin as they traveled to Madison for their season openers. The Lady Miners were defeated by the strong University of Wisconsin-Madison but played a tough and competitive game with a final score of 3-1. UMR came back to win against the Milwaukee team dominating the scoreboards with a 6-1 score.

Two records were broken in the game against Principia College. The first of those records was most goals scored by the Miners in one game, nine. The second record was most goals scored in one game by an individual.

Jan Wilkerson booted four goals into Principia College's net during the 9-0 win.

The Budweiser Soccer Tournament was a disappointing weekend for UMR. The Lady Miners were 5-2 up to that weekend and they knew they would have to bust their tails to do well with two of the three teams being nationally rated. The women's soccer team came home 6-4 and from that point on, it was an up and down season for the Lady Miners.

The 1985 women's soccer team will be a very young squad with six returning players. The team has a lot of personnel to replace with the loss of Eve Watkins, Lisa Frumhoff, and Gina Tonsi who proved to be the foundation of the soccer program. Coach McNally commented on the difficulty of attracting women athletes to UMR. "Not every female student athlete is attracted to a high tech degree." McNally hopes to elevate the program with an extended recruiting effort outside of Missouri.

The Year Of Almost

Beginning his fifth season as head coach of the Miner men's soccer team, Paul McNally saw good things almost happen. Ending the season with a 9-5-4 record tells one that the season could have easily gone either way. "Four ties is incredible." Coach McNally explained since in the other four seasons of play, there have been a total of five ties. The weather and a few controversial calls by officials made the difference between a win, loss, or a tie.

One game will be remembered more than any other game of the '84 season. Against Northeast Missouri State, the Miners had a chance to win the MIAA Conference and possibly get a spot in the playoffs. But not only did the Miners lose 1-0 to Northeast, the Miners also failed to win the conference and were unable to get a playoff berth.

Playing the toughest schedule in the team's five years of existence, next year will prove to be even more challenging. Coach McNally has high hopes for '85 with a solid group of 16 returning players. The squad will be looking for a dominant person on the field with the loss of Kevin Keenoy and Bryan Dickerson. Coach McNally feels very good about men's soccer and is satisfied with the '84 season but feels that the team had the potential to make the playoffs. McNally also hopes that a strong soccer program has been created and that it can go one step higher in '85.

More Than Just a Football Game

After weeks of planning and days of preparation, UMR celebrated their Homecoming October 26 and 27. The Student Union Board once again planned a variety of events and activities for the weekend.

Starting the bonanza of events was the bonfire on Friday night sponsored by the M-Club. A little rain didn't stop the Miner fans from coming out and getting psyched for the weekend.

Later that evening, the Misstakes provided the entertainment for the Homecoming dance in Centennial Hall. The main event of the evening was the presentation of the 29 Queen candidates and their escorts. The top ten candidates were introduced and Ellen Moore, Jennifer Hosmer, Trelah Elliff, and Leslie Drum were announced as the four finalists.

Saturday, the day everyone waited for, brought Miner spirit to a peak. A boisterous crowd was on hand at Jackling Field to witness the announcement of the Queen and to fire up for the clash of helmets between the UMR Miners and the Lincoln Blue Tigers.

During halftime of the football game, shouts and cheers were heard through the stands as the radiant Trelah Elliff was crowned UMR's new Homecoming Queen. Trelah was nominated by

The fighting Miners couldn't be stopped as they rolled over Lincoln with a 27-3 victory. The victory broke the Miner's two game losing streak and brought their record to 6 and 2.

This year's Homecoming Concert proved to be slightly different than previous concerts by presenting three different acts. The entertainment consisted of a variety of performances from the juggler Michael Davis, Larry Bud Melman's stand-up routine, and the Ozark Mountain Daredevils provided the musical entertainment for Saturday night.

Other activities of the weekend included the Fieldhouse Feed for all alumni and friends, class reunions, and the Awards Banquet which honored outstanding alumnus and students.

Even though the rain and wind chilled spectators throughout the weekend, spirits weren't dampened as old friends were reunited and new acquaintances were made.

Fast Start Turns Into Frustrating Season

A year that began with high expectations, ended in disappointment and frustrations for the 1984 UMR Miner football team. The Miners entered the season hoping to repeat as champions of the rugged MIAA conference, but unfortunately had to settle for a 2-3 league finish and an overall record of 6-4.

During the first half of the season the Miners' play was impeccable. After consecutive lopsided victories over Pittsburg St. and the University of Evansville, the team was 4-0 going into MIAA action. The following week the Miners entertained SEMSU and cruised to a shut out victory over the Indians. At that point, Coach Charlie Finley's squad found themselves riding a 10 game winning streak, including victories from 1983, and a NCAA-II national ranking of 8th.

The winning streak was snapped the following week, however, and the momentum changed. Back to back road losses to NEMSU and CMSU virtually crushed the Miners chances for another league crown and had the team reeling. In fact, the Miners could only salvage one win in the last 5 games, that being a Homecoming victory over Lincoln. One game that best typifies the team's woes during that stretch was an eleven point loss to non-league foe Evangel, in which 3 Miner touchdowns were nullified by penalties.

Despite the fact that UMR did not fare well as a team in the conference, there were several excellent individual performances. Senior fullback Mike Schaefer captured the MIAA rushing title with an 82.6 yards-per-game average. Mike was also one of five players to be named first-team all-conference. Included on the offensive first-team were senior tackle Jeff Hegar and sophomore guard Eric Wiegand. On defense, junior linebacker Glenn Wilhelm and junior tackle Bob Gorham were also selected to the first-team. Wilhelm led the always strong Miner defense with an impressive total of 114 tackles.

Coach Finley was proud of the fact that his football team "played their hearts out," despite some very tough losses, and indicated that he was looking forward to next season. With a fine nucleus of returning lettermen, coupled with a good recruiting year, the Miners hope to recapture the MIAA league crown in 1985.

No Longer

The Lady Miner Basketball Team established their reputation in the conference by proving preseason polls wrong. The polls predicted UMR to finish last in the MIAA, but the Miner Ladys played hard and finished fifth in the conference.

Coach Mary Ortelee finished her first season as head coach of the Lady Miners, guiding the young team to a respectable finish. Coach Ortelee felt that from the start, the team had a tremendous amount of potential and talent.

Playing a tough basketball game, the Miners went 5-1 up to the Christmas break. In their second game of the new year, competing against Southeast, UMR lost 41-89, beginning a seven game losing skid, six of which were conference games. Southeast was at the hands of UMR when the Ladys faced them the second time. With a 51 point turn around from their first standoff, UMR beat Cape with a score of 72-69. The Lady Miners finished the season with a 9-12 overall record and a 3-9 conference finish.

This was the first year for the women to be playing with a new basketball during a trial period. The ball is an inch smaller and two ounces lighter than the standard men's basketball. At first the team was "breaking the backboards," but when they got used to it, the women found an improvement in ball handling and passing.

When looking back over the season, Senior Leslie Behm felt that "This year left us with a positive attitude. We pulled together toward the end of the season with more of a team effort. We knew what to expect of each other from the court and worked together."

There were many individual standouts on the 1984-85 squad. Leslie Behm, Tanya Hough, and Susan Mullins all made an All-Conference Team. Placing second in the conference with rebounds, Hough broke the school record for the most rebounds in one game with 23 against Maryville College and paced UMR as they led the conference in rebounds. Stacey Stover was second in the conference in blocked shots, 1.24 per game, and Mullins led the conference in field goal percentage with 56.14 percent from the floor. Mullins, Hough and Sandra Vaughn all finished the season in double figures.

Next year looks promising for the Lady Miners. "With nine of ten players returning, and progressing as fast as they have been, the team will be more competitive and aggressive next year," commented Coach Ortelee.

Gibson Caps Off

In the years to come few will remember the 13-13 overall record and the 4-8 conference mark that the 1984-85 Miner basketball team finished with. Only the avid UMR fan will recall the emergence of freshman Duane Huddleston at the year's end as one of the premiere newcomers in the MIAA. What will be remembered is that, arguably, the greatest player ever to put on a Miner uniform completed an extraordinary career. His name, of course, is Curtis Gibson.

"The thing that made Curtis such a great player is that he could do so many things. He got more out of his ability than any other player I've ever coached." These sentiments were echoed by head coach Billy Key who has seen many great players come and go during his long tenure at UMR. Opposing coaches were equally impressed. CMSU's head coach, Lynn Nance had this to say about Gibson. "Curtis is one of the top forwards in the nation. I've watched him play in summer leagues against top college and NBA players and he excels in that competition as well."

Indeed, Gibson did it all for the Miners. After a four year college career, Curtis tallied 1533 points, shattering the old UMR record by 166 points and placing him 16th on the all time MIAA list. Scoring, however was only part of Gibson's game. During the 84-85 season, Curtis lead the team in rebounds (7.0 avg.), assists (67), steals (68), as well as points (485) and field goal percent (55.4). These numbers were good enough to earn him a third consecutive berth on the MIAA first-team and also third team All-American selection.

As one would expect, the Miners will miss the 6-5 forward from Kansas City. Coach Key will be the first to admit that it will take several players to fill the void left by Gibson's departure. Mark Zarr, Chris Stange and Dave Moellenhoff will provide the senior leadership next year and Huddleston will likely improve in his sophomore season. Coaches Key and Martin also plan to bring in two or three new players, as they attempt to make a stronger showing in the competitive MIAA Conference.

Ups and Downs

"The season was full of highs and lows," commented head Coach Joe Keeton. The 1984-85 wrestling squad had more than their share of injuries and all of the close matches seemed to fall in the favor of their opponents.

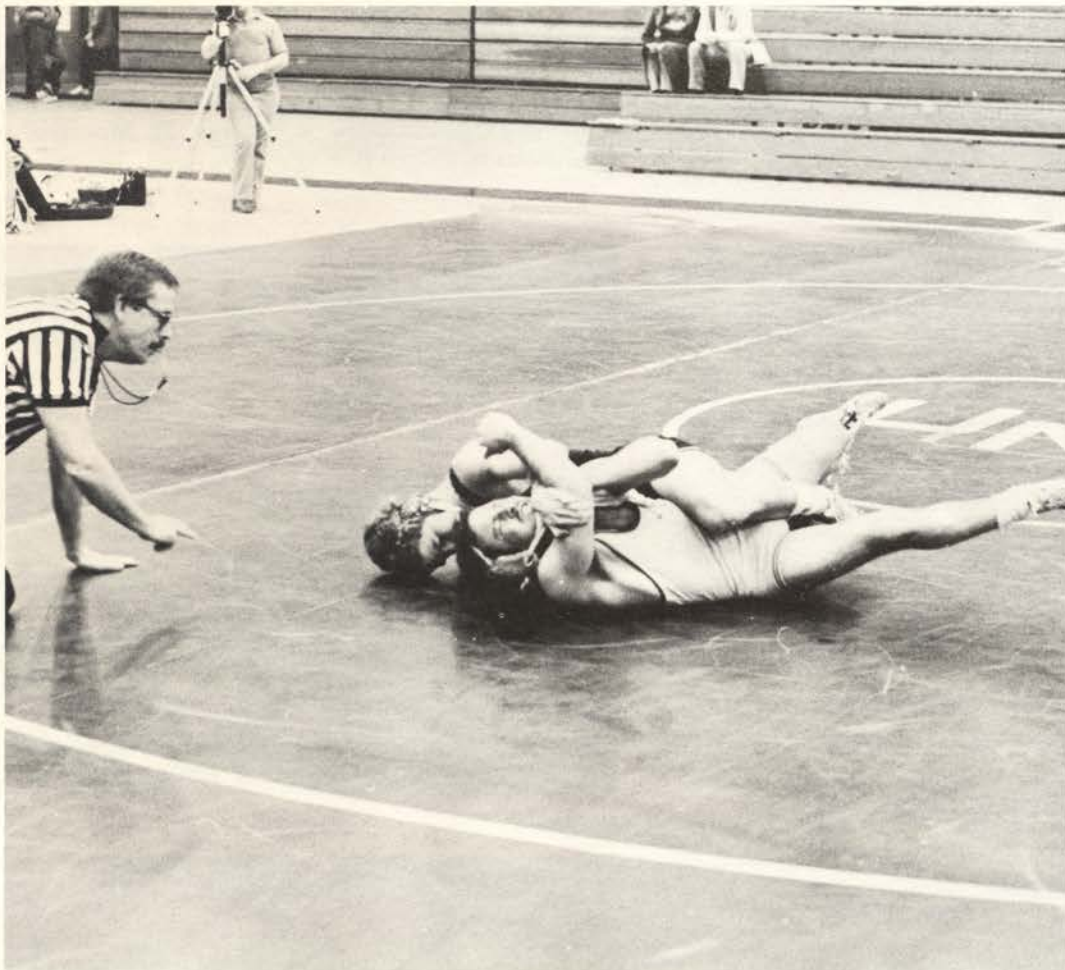

Coach Keeton faced a roster minus two starting grapplers from last year. Doug Eden was injured before the season began and Mark Weston, last year's leading winner, was out for the season just after two matches.

"At one time we had six starters missing meets because of various injuries. If we could have kept our team free of injuries, we had a chance of having an outstanding season. We would have at least won more than we lost," said Keeton. Greg Schoenberg, Ramon Weston, and Jon Perry all earned the honor of qualifying for Nationals in Dayton Ohio. Even though the team didn't score during Nationals, the Miners showed that they have what it takes to compete with the best.

Greg Schoenberg was honored as the most valuable wrestler in the league by a poll of MIAA coaches after the CMSU tournament. Schoenberg is also UMR's first two time conference champion.

The Miners will face a challenging 1985-86 season with six returners. The squad will be missing outstanding wrestlers, Greg Schoenberg, Jim Siekmann, Ramon Weston, and Jeff Maddex due to graduation.

Emerging as the conference leader, UMR's rifle team proved that they have what it takes to compete in the Big 8. Representing the University of Missouri campuses, the squad travelled to Kansas State University to the Big 8 Rifle Tournament. UMR shot a score of 4156 of a possible 4800 which earned them third place in the tournament. "The competition was extremely tough. Kansas State won the tournament and South Dakota placed second, both of those schools offer scholarships for rifle so they had a number of experienced shooters," said third year coach Sgt. Mike Radford.

"We had a very competitive team this year. The squad didn't embarrass themselves anywhere they competed," Sgt. Radford said. "We were satisfied with our season but still felt we could of done better."

Leading the squad, Bob Valbracht was the number one shooter in the league with a 528.2 (of a possible 600 points.) aggregate average. He captured first in both the standing and kneeling positions and second in the prone position in league competition.

Being the only woman on this year's squad and the first female on the varsity rifle team at UMR, Kathy Howard had a good season by improving her aggregate average from last year's 456 to 501 this season. This placed Kathy second in the conference.

Although there are a number of intercollegiate sports that are available for men and women, riflery is the only sport in which they compete head-to-head.

Next year's team will be very competitive with all varsity members returning but one. The loss of Barry Freiner to graduation will be replaced by one of this year's junior varsity team members. The experience they have gained this past year will help the team be a viable contender in future matches.

Swim Team Enjoys National Ranking

From the beginning of the season, the swimming Miners set their sights on national competition. During the 1985 season, they reached their goal when they finished 10th in the nation. "What can you say, it was well done," said Coach Bob Pease. "It was a great finish but you always want to place as high as possible. The competition at nationals was better this year than anyone had anticipated. Once you reach this level of competition, it becomes very difficult to move up. Our kids swam well but we had too many that swam in the consolation bracket." Fifteen of the 18 swimmers qualified for nationals and were able to compete in the NCAA Division II Championships.

Making their mark in the record-book, the 1985 swim team set 13 new varsity records, seven of which were set during the national championships.

Receiving encouragement, the swimmers keep up their pace in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Derek Coon, Craig Erzen, Jon Staley, and Mark Wuttig all qualified to be All-Americans this season. Being an Academic All-American requires a grade point of 3.5 or better and qualifying for nationals. The Miners who received this honor are; Scott Carney, Danny Mattle, Paul Pericich and Martin Rodseth.

Finishing his final season as UMR's head swimming and diving coach, Bob Pease resigned after 16 years to accept a position with Phillips Petroleum, coaching the Phillips 66 Splash Club.

During his time at UMR, Pease led the Miners to various trips to the NCAA National Tournament, boasting finishes in the top 10 on four different occasions. The Miners also won the MIAA title six straight seasons and finished second five other times during conference competition.

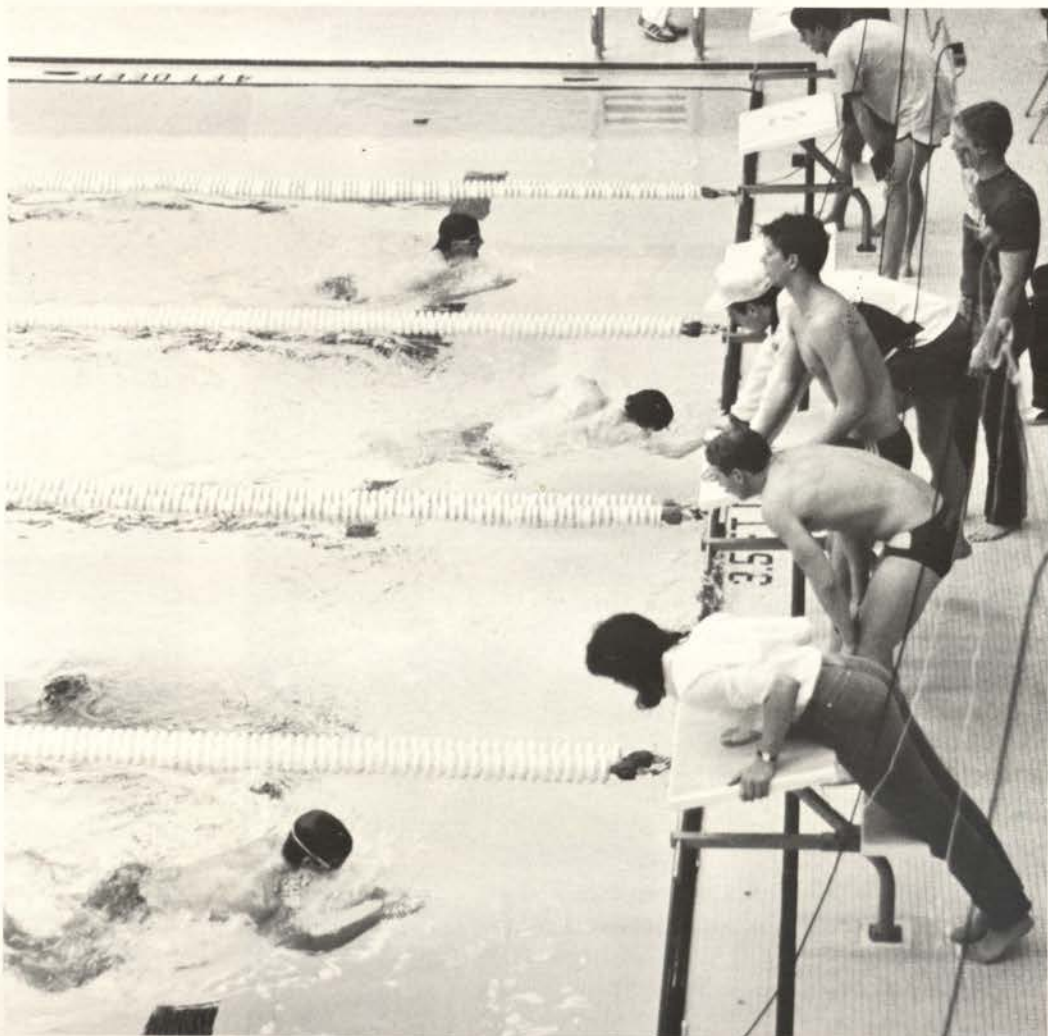

In addition to his varsity swimming duties, Pease also coached the UMR Water Polo Club and was a member of the NCAA Men's Swimming Rules committee. He lettered four times and served as captain of Wittenberg University's swim team from 1960-64. Pease coached at the high school level and was a graduate assistant at Central Missouri State before joining UMR in 1969.

"This is by far the best team ever at UMR — the strongest relays, excellent depth. We had one person in every event for Nationals except the 500 yard freestyle," said Pease.

Losing only one senior, David Rose, a national qualifier, UMR's new head swimming and diving coach will be leading a talented group with high goals.

Making progress throughout the 1985 season, the women's tennis team found this year to be one of learning. Throughout their schedule, the Lady Miners improved in their individual performances.

Laurie Behm and Jane Bokermann were the only returning players. They were joined by Hanan Atalla, Liz Haning, Vicki Lapp, Lisa Wilcox, and Lan Lam. Coach Sarah Preston felt that the newcomers played well and added to the team.

Laurie Behm played in the number one position for the Miners. "Laurie had a good season, she lost some close matches," said Coach Preston. Playing number two, Liz Haning came onto the team and established herself as a competitive player. Hanan Atalla was in the third spot and ended the season with the best individual record on the team.

Behm and Haning paired together to make up the number one doubles team and Atalla and Wilcox played second. Both of these doubles teams had winning records this season.

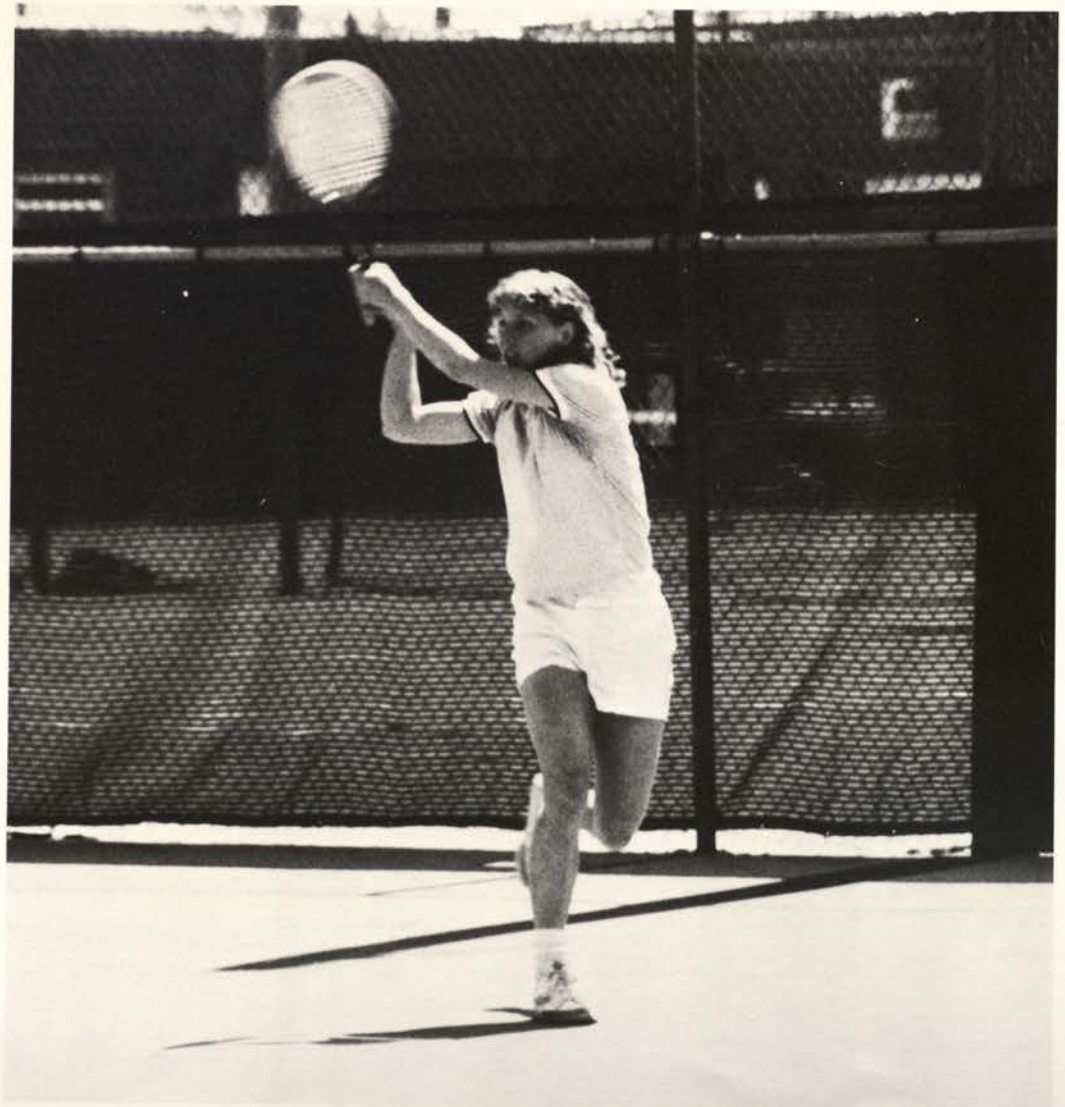

The tennis team found they had a hard time keeping a full team. People had to miss matches because of classes and this definitely hurt the team's performance.

The Lady Miners were reaching their peak and couldn't have timed it any better than with the Conference match at Kirksville. But during conference competition, the consolation bracket was cancelled due to bad weather. Preston felt they had a good chance of picking up third and fourth places.

With six returning players, the Lady Miners plan on improving their record and making continuous strides forward.

Serving at a home match, Hanan Atalla puts one across the net. Hanan finished the season with a 6-3 individual record.

The Miners number one player, Laurie Behm smites a forehand to her opponent.

Following through on a forehand, Vicki Lapp returns the ball during a singles match.

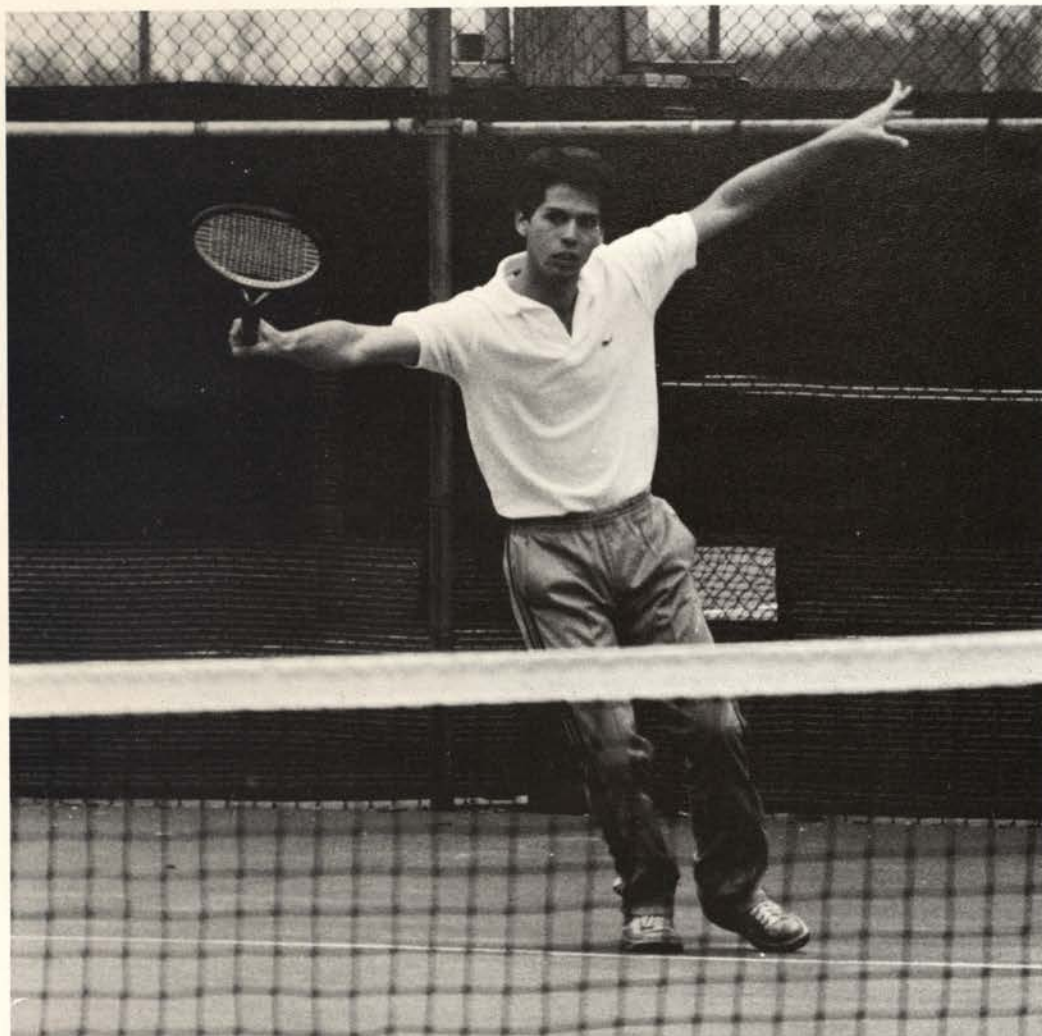

Young Squad

With no seniors and only four returning lettermen, the '85 men's tennis season was to be a rebuilding year. "It was just one of those years when we had an unexperienced group due to the lack of exposure to aggressive college teams," said coach Paul McNally. "There were a number of people from last year that didn't play because of conflicts with school. We had a group of new players which created a very young team."

The Miners were led by Paul Isackson in the number one spot and Greg Sanders in the number two position. "These two had the most college experience. They were extremely competitive against some excellent competition," said McNally.

One of the main goals for next year is to build up the tennis program by starting a fall training plan. With the fall training program and a squad of experienced players, the Miners are looking forward to a competitive '86 season.

Ironing Out the Kinks

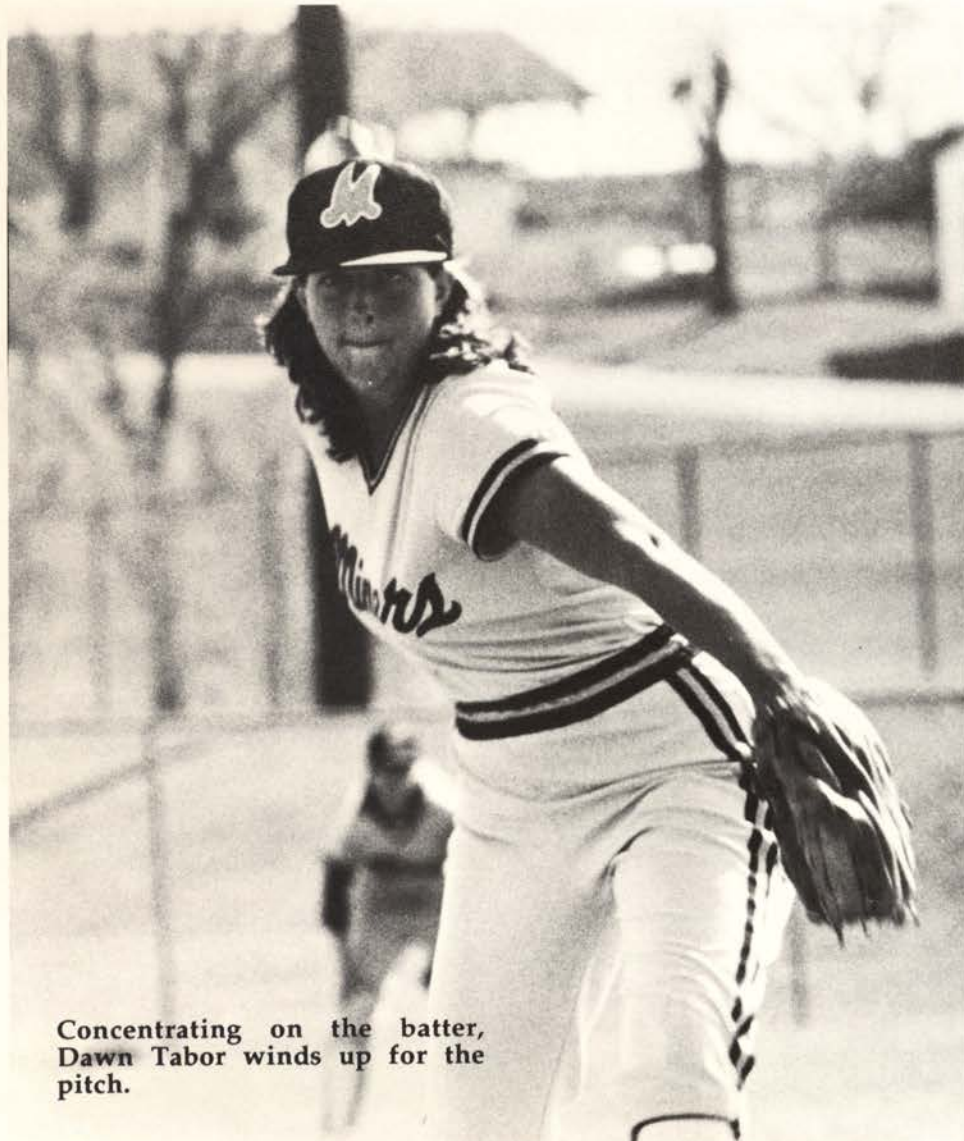

Returning everybody from last year, plus a few newcomers, the Miner softball team was looking to be a competitive force in the conference. Throughout the season, the Lady Miners played defensive ballgames with few errors but struggled at the plate. Hitting turned out to be the major factor in their 8-16 overall record.

Resuming spring training in Florida, the Miner softball team attained valuable practice time. The weather was a definite improvement over that in Missouri, which gave the Miners the opportunity to work on fundamentals and play eight games which they couldn't have played otherwise. The Lady Miners played close ballgames against Quincy College who eventually went on to capture the NAIA National Championship.

"The new people to the team came in and helped us out a lot," said Coach Cindy Maulin. Angie McEntire was an asset both in left field and at the plate. Freshman Melissa Krolak added needed depth to the pitching staff, both at the starting and relief positions.

Three Miners made an All-Conference team during the season. Cecilia Gutierrez and Angie McEntire both received Honorable Mention Honors and center fielder, Leslie Behm earned All-Conference.

The Lady Miners will be losing some outstanding starters due to graduation but will also be boasting a number of experienced players. If the weather cooperates and the team is able to get the bat on the ball, the 1986 season will be a winning one.

Concentrating on the batter, Dawn Tabor winds up for the pitch.

Following Through

Prior to the spring season, Coach Jerry Maulin was optimistic about his team's prospects. The Miners were looking to improve on last season's 5-15 record. Counting on their defensive experience, returning leading hitters, and a solid pitching staff the Miners ended their 1985 season 7-16.

Coach Jerry Maulin felt that the team really came on strong towards the end and if they could have played like that all season, they would have done much better. The weather made it difficult to practice at first, but once they got into the groove, the pitching, hitting and fielding all improved.

The Miners almost pulled off a huge upset when they faced Mizzou in the season finale. After splitting four games against UMSL and Lincoln the Miners went to Columbia to play a solo game against UMC. The Tigers scored an unearned run in the bottom of the ninth to win the game, 5-4. Coach Maulin was proud of his team's performance and called it the highest moral victory of the season.

Mike O'Dell had an outstanding season, leading the team with a .403 batting average and being the team's most valuable player. Seniors Dave Kuethe and Bill Foege did an excellent job on the mound for the Miners along with Dave Palmer in relief. Other graduating seniors include Brad Lee, Everett Horne and Alan Thomas.

Even though the Miners will lose seven players, there are a lot of returning players for next year including three top Miner pitchers. The 1986 season will be one to look forward to.

Teeing Off

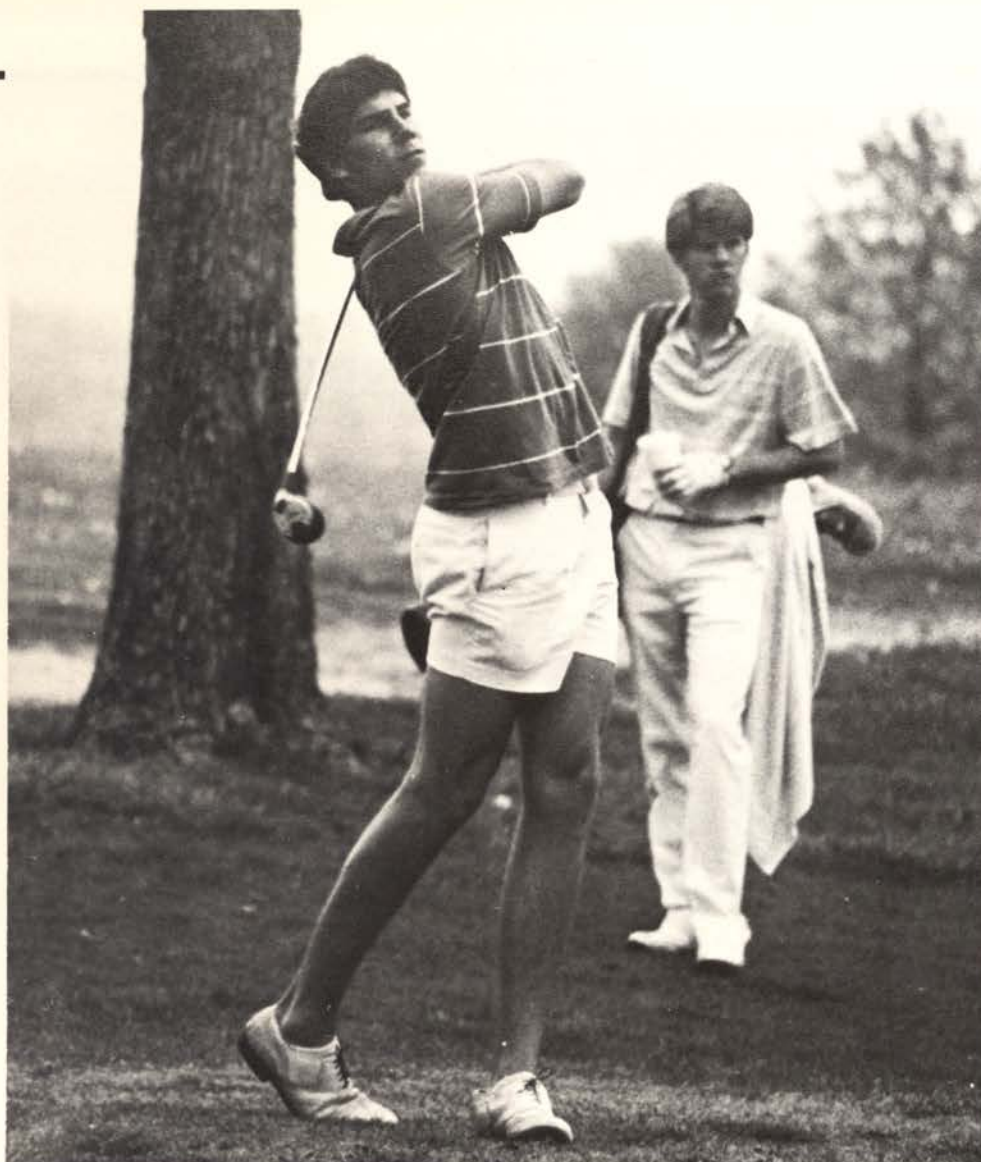

Although the 1985 season did not prove to be a terribly successful one for the Miners, for the golfers involved in the program, this season was by no means a disappointment. It was a season of aging, maturing and learning for a young club.

Freshman Danny Wright led the Miners this season. Danny was continually low scorer for UMR. He took third in the MO-St. Louis Tournament and was instrumental in the team's second place finish in UMR's Best Ball Tournament. Senior Mike Morgan pushed Danny the most and also had a couple of excellent tournaments.

"Throughout the year the Miner golf team finished toward the middle of the field," said Coach Bud Mercier. "The highlights of the season came when we took second in our own Best Ball Tournament and fourth place in the MIAA Conference."

Personal Bests

Experiencing many personal bests and a few record breaking times for UMR, the Miner Men's Track team came on strong towards the end of the season. The Miners had to deal with various injuries and the fact that they lacked depth, which made it impossible to compete in total team score.

Coach Dewey Allgood concerned himself on working with the individuals, not letting the team scores bother him. "Without athletes competing regularly in each event, we can't expect to win the team score. There are usually a couple events each meet we don't have athletes in, and that is a free 20 points given up. That hurts, there's no question about it."

Individual performances became stronger later in the season due to melted snow and good track workouts.

During the MIAA Conference Indoor Track Meet at CMSU, John Borthwick placed fourth with a time of 1:57.37, breaking his own UMR indoor record. Running a 17:25, the Miner's 4x1 mile relay team broke the old school record. The relay team consisted of John Borthwick, Jeff Balmer, Dan Lichtenwalner, and Mike Deamer. Breaking their own record in the same season, the sprint medley team of George

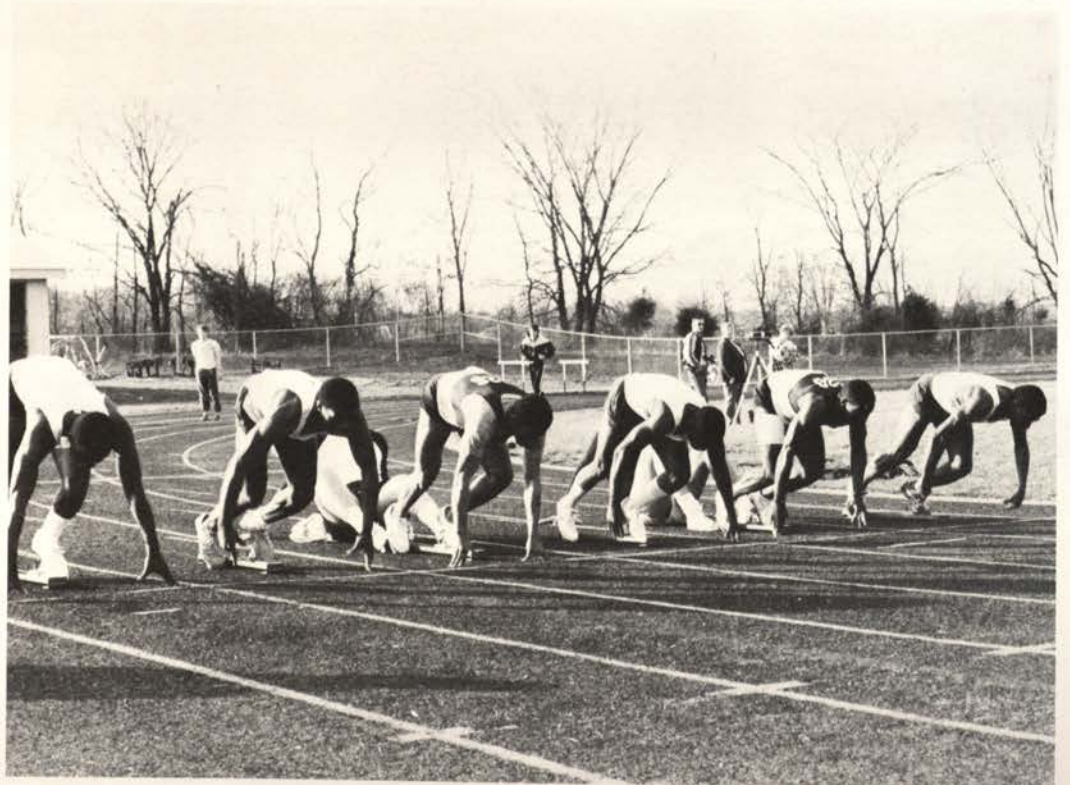

Louis-Ferdinand, Ike Iloputaift, Brian McElroy and John Borthwick, set a new school record of 3:30.52 at the School of the Ozarks in their season opener and then went on to beat that time with a 3:29.19 at the Drake relays.

At the conference meet, the lack of athletes showed on the final score. However, the individuals who competed were factors in their respective events. Those who placed at the conference meet were:

- George Louis-Ferdinand, 5th in the 100 meter dash.
- Brian McElroy, 4th in the 200 meter dash.
- Jeff Balmer, 3rd in the steeple chase.
- John Borthwick, 4th in the 1500 meter.
- Dan Lichtenwalner, 5th in the 5K.
- Curt Elmore, 5th in the 10K.
- John Henry, 5th in the discus.
- Mark Forsythe, 5th in the high hurdles, 4th in the high jump.

Coach Allgood felt that his team had been running well at the end of the season and that it showed in the competitive conference.

Experiencing one of the best recruiting years, the 1986 squad will be stronger, plus added depth with 16 new freshmen and transfers.

Waiting for the gun, the sprinters ready themselves for the 100 meter dash.

UMR's Best Compete

The Student Union Board sponsors a number of athletic competitions throughout the year which range from a spades tournament to frisbee golf.

Each year SUB sends students to the Association of College Unions International Recreation Games Tournament to compete against other colleges and universities. The tournament in '85 was held in Wichita Kansas over a three day period in February. Twenty-six schools from Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Nebraska competed in the games. The requirement for being able to participate in this tournament is to win one's campus competition. The four students who represented UMR in Wichita were: Dave Bricker — racquetball, Dave Barron — billiards, Mike Stein — backgammon, and Doug Eden — chess.

"The best part of the tournaments is that it is a relatively high degree of competition and everybody has a good time," said John Watson, program coordinator for SUB. "We would like to see more participation in the campus tournaments because it can only enhance the competition."

"Competition is so stiff in 8-ball that if you miss twice, you're gonna lose," said Dave Barron. Dave placed fourth in billiards during the tournament.

Beginning the match, Dave Bricker puts the ball in play. Racquetball was just one of 15 sports played during the ACUI games tournament.

Concentrating on his next move, Doug Eden (right) plans out his strategy.

Something For

It's all the same. The thrill of victory is there and so is the agony of defeat. The only difference is the athletes. Whether a frustrated ex-high school jock or the occasional athlete, they are just out to have a good time. Intramurals provide athletic competition and one doesn't have to be a serious athlete to participate in a wide range of sports.

Intramurals provide the opportunity to compete, get some exercise and it's a socially accepted outlet for tension and aggression. From game to game, each team and team member, battles it out to the end against friend and foe.

The intramural program continues to grow in both the number of activities provided and the number of participants. The program aims to offer something for everyone and boasts 18 different sports during the school year. Thirty-nine men's organizations and 12 women's organizations participated in intramurals this past year.

"Surveys have indicated that throughout the academic year we reach almost 75 percent of the students at UMR and more students are participating in intramural sports than ever before," said Dewey Allgood, director of the intramural program. "Intramurals at UMR are intended to provide men and women students with opportunities for athletic competition without the pressures felt in the campus's intercollegiate athletics program."

Much of the responsibility for coordinating and administering the intramural program is assumed by the intramural manager's association. Each organization elects a representative and during their biweekly meetings, they award outstanding teams and team members.

During the M-Club sponsored sports banquet in the spring, both the male and female outstanding intramural athletes of the year are recognized. Chris Carpenter of Tau Kappa Epsilon was awarded the Burr Van Nostrand Award which is set up in memory of Burr Van Nostrand. Christa Norman of Kappa Delta was the female outstanding intramural athlete. Christa was awarded the Weinbaum Award which is sponsored by the Weinbaum's of McDonalds.

Team points are awarded for participation and placing in the various sports. Competition becomes fierce as the teams battle it out for first place. The team with the most intramural points receives the intramural trophy and the honor of being recognized as the top intramural organization on campus. Sigma Phi Epsilon captured first place with a total of 2,831 points. Sigma Nu was in second with 2,701 total points. For the women, the Association of Women Students (AWS) stole first with 798 points and Kappa Delta took second with 663.5 total points. Tau Kappa Epsilon received this year's consolation trophy. The trophy is awarded to the organization who participated in all sports but never placed in a team sport.

The future of the intramural program looks bright as more students make physical fitness a part of their curriculum. Director of the women's intramural program, Sarah Preston said "I see no reason why both the men's and women's programs won't continue to grow."

Ready and waiting for the pitch, a GDI player keeps an eye on the field.

Betty Todd — July 1984

BETTY TODD MEMORIAL FUND: A memorial scholarship fund was established in Betty Todd's name at the request of her family and friends. Betty Todd was the receptionist in the Student Activities office from 1967 to 1980. In 1980 she became student services advisor and she served in this capacity until her death, July 6, 1984.

Chris Kovarik — April 1985

Ken Tweedy — May 1985

On April 29th, 1985, Joseph M. Marchello, Chancellor of the University of MO-Rolla, announced that he had accepted the appointment as President of Old Dominion University, in Norfolk, Virginia.

Joseph Marchello, 51, has served as Chancellor of UM-Rolla since 1978. At Old Dominion University, he succeeds Alfred B. Rollins, Jr., who, last August, announced his intention to step down from the presidency on June 30, 1985.

In announcing the appointment, Rector Robert M. Stanton said, "We feel very fortunate to have attracted an excellent administrator with proven abilities who is also widely recognized for his scholarship and research activities. Dr. Marchello's performance as a senior academic administrator during the past 12 years, at the same time continuing his extensive research and publications of scientific papers as well as significant public service, speaks to his energy as well as his ability. We are very pleased to welcome him to ODU."

In accepting the appointment, Marchello said, "It is a great honor to be selected to participate in the leadership of ODU. I appreciate the confidence the Board of Visitors has placed in me and will do my best to fulfill its trust."

"It was a difficult decision to leave the University of Missouri-Rolla, however, as my family and I have invested an important part of our lives there. We will leave behind many dear friends and fond memories of a wonderful institution."

A native of Illinois, Joseph Marchello received his bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois in 1955 and his Doctorate in Chemical Engineering from Carnegie-Mellon University in 1959. He began his teaching career at Oklahoma State University in 1959.

In 1961, he accepted a position with the University of Maryland. At Maryland, Marchello served as chairman of the Chemical Engineering Department from 1967 to 1973 and as provost of the Division of Mathematical and Physical Sciences and Engineering from 1973-78.

During those years, he served on advisory groups on air quality control, atomic energy, and power plant siting. He has published extensively in these areas and is a member of several professional societies concerned with these topics.

Marchello began his service at the University of Missouri-Rolla in 1978. According to Dr. John Park, UMR Vice Chancellor for academic affairs.

Chancellor Joe

"Marchello's tenure at Rolla is marked by a program of faculty and facilities development and careful articulation of the institution's missions and goals.

"Among the many accomplishments on campus during his seven years as Chancellor, have been establishment of programs for both students and faculty which recognized exceptional ability, development of worldwide exchange programs for faculty and students with Universities on every continent, and approval of nine academic programs and two new doctoral programs."

Neil Smith, Vice Chancellor for administrative services, said that, "While Marchello has been Chancellor at UMR, six new research institutes have been formed, a Center for Technological Development has been established to stimulate local economic growth based on faculty and staff inventions, and the campus was one of the first to introduce computer graphics, computer-assisted design/computer-assisted manufacturing and robotics to all undergraduate engineering students."

Frank Mackaman, UMR Vice Chancellor for alumni/development affairs, said, "Under Marchello's leadership, the campus boosted its annual private giving income to $4.6 million in 1984, an increase of more than 300%, and arranged private matching gifts to help finance three major buildings as part of the campus renewal program.

"Also under his administration," Mackaman said, "UMR began an endowment program to support faculty enrichment and study."

Among other accomplishments was the National Society of Professional Engineers' award to the campus.

During 1981-82, Marchello served as president of the Missouri Council of Public Higher Education and currently holds the office of Secretary. He is a member of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges' committees on mineral resources and technology utilization.

A fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Marchello is also a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, the American Chemical Society, the Missouri Academy of Science, the Missouri Society of Professional Engineers, and the National Society of Professional Engineers. Additionally, he is a member of the New York Academy of Science, and the Society of Mining Engineers of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers.

Joseph Marchello has given a lifetime of devotion to UMR and now it is time to move on. His accomplishments here will long be remembered. "Farewell Chancellor Joe."

"We will leave behind many dear friends and fond memories of a wonderful Institution."

Dear Readers,

The 1984-85 school year has offered a unique combination of events and memories which the staff of the Rollamo has done their best to capture in the pages of this book. I am sure, however, that there are some things that you can remember that are not covered. And for that I apologize, but, to cover the happenings each minute of a day, on a University campus, is a rather large task for such a small staff to accomplish. But, maybe next year the impossible will happen.

To publish a yearbook, it takes an enormous amount of responsibility, motivation and pride. These three words summarize the kind of people that I had the pleasure to work with. The editors and photographers that put out this book, put forth a "special effort" to insure the quality and style that should be seen in an University Yearbook.

I had the unique pleasure of seeing college, for the first time, through the eyes of a scholar, an athlete, a minority and a Christian, an enemy and a friend. Life through these eyes is but untouched. The pleasure, wisdom and insight, the pride and the friendships I've gained through these people could never be completely expressed on paper. I hope that you have enjoyed the time and effort that this staff has put forth. For as long as there are people with such imagination and motivation to share, everyone can "Catch the Sensation" of the University.
